Madrid May Surrender, Say Rebels

Loyalists Reported Debating Giving Up As Rebels Advance

Insurgents Say President Azana in Favor of Government Forces Surrendering, But Premier Caballero Insists on Further Fight

Forces Still in Alcazar Battle

Associated Press
Fascist Headquarters, Talavera de la Reina, Sept. 23.—The fall of Madrid and Toledo was declared imminent today by insurgent leaders as the fascists rapidly cut the distance separating their armies from both cities. Officers said the government forces were hurled back on both fronts after suffering severe losses in battles at Torrijos and along the Talavera-Madrid highway beyond Maqueda. Reports were current the Madrid government was debating the advisability of surrender.

Gen. Francisco Franco, insurgent commander, however, prepared to take Madrid by storm, probably in a joint attack with forces of Gen. Emilio Mola, advancing out of the Cuadarrama mountains, northwest of the capital.

DRIVING AHEAD

Fascist commanders, with strategic highway points in their possession, pushed steadily against government defenders blocking roads leading to Madrid and Toledo.

The new offensive developed in three directions from Maqueda, important highway junction, forty-five miles southwest of the Spanish capital.

Behind Moorish advance patrols, one insurgent column pushed northeast along the main highway toward hastily-reinforced government lines near Santa Cruz del Betamar. The objective of this force was Navalcarnero, twenty-six miles northeast of Maqueda.

A second column was ordered to advance southwest toward Toledo from Torrijos, secondary highway point six miles south of Maqueda, which the fascists occupied yesterday. A third column moved due north (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

Affiliation For the R.C.M.P.

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Sept. 23.—Reversing the usual procedure whereby units of the Canadian militia are honored by being affiliated with the famous regiments of the British army, the Legion of Frontiersmen, the empire-wide organization of trail blazers, with headquarters in London, has been affiliated with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Request for the honor was made by the British Legion headquarters.

MAN IS FLOWN TO HOSPITAL

Vancouver Island Logger Takes Plane to Mainland After Mishap at Rock Bay

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 23.—Emanuel Pearson was in a hospital here today suffering from pneumonia and severely crushed ribs, the result of a logging accident at Rock Bay, north of Campbell River on Vancouver Island.

Pearson was brought to Vancouver today in an airplane piloted by E. W. C. Dobbin, Vancouver pilot, who made the mercy flight in answer to an emergency call received here yesterday evening.

Hospital authorities reported Pearson's condition critical. Dobbin said he did not know the particulars of the accident but was told the man had been found lying in the bush severely injured and that pneumonia had set in as a result of exposure.

A second man, James Lawson, also suffering from pneumonia, was not considered in a serious condition and remained at Rock Bay. He was reported to have been injured in the same accident.

New Magistrate Appointment Plan

Victoria Proposal Government Make Choices From Persons Nominated By Councils Approved By Union of B.C. Municipalities

Canadian Press
Vernon, B.C., Sept. 23.—A resolution recommending that every police magistrate in every municipality should be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council from one or more candidates nominated by the municipal council was passed by the annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, in session here today.

The resolution, presented from the Victoria City Council, met with no opposition. The convention further requested an amendment to the Municipal Act to provide "that at the request of the municipal council any such appointment may be canceled by order of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council."

The question of consolidation of municipal sinking funds, consolidation of assessments on certain farm lands given lengthy study by the resolutions committee, were not elaborated on the floor of the convention, but were referred to the incoming executive to devise the best line of action and to confer with government authorities.

REFUNDING PLAN

A resolution submitted by Mayor C. E. Scanlon of Kamloops asking the municipalities collectively to request the provinces to pass legislation providing for the refunding of the whole bonded indebtedness of municipalities at a rate of interest not to exceed 3 per cent was withdrawn.

Mayor Scanlon declared Kamloops was not seeking anything approaching repudiation. "But here and there throughout the province refunding operations are being sought and undertaken, and it is our wish," he explained, "to see this carried out on an orderly and well-disciplined basis."

The convention was scheduled to reach its concluding stages this afternoon, with new officers to be elected and a banquet and ball planned for the evening.

Alcazar Ruins Still Under Attack

Associated Press
Toledo, Spain, Sept. 23.—Government forces kept up an incessant attack on fascists still beleaguered in the Alcazar here late today while the high command organized a powerful defense of the city. Reinforcements from Madrid roared into Toledo, in trucks, ready to protect the highway from Torrijos, down which insurgents were advancing.

The picture above shows the ancient Alcazar on the hill in Toledo before its four towers and walls were battered down.

NEW MARK FOR LUMBER IS SET

Shipments to United Kingdom Last Month Over 60,000,000 Feet

A new record for monthly shipments to the United Kingdom, 60,961,930 feet, sent August lumber exports from British Columbia 20 per cent higher than the corresponding month of 1935, according to Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau figures received today by the provincial government.

The total export for the month was 87,822,291 feet, United Kingdom shipments being about 70 per cent.

This big August business, adding to a good volume in the first half of the year, made a total of 616,378,080 feet shipped to overseas ports during the first eight months of the year. This compared with 508,707,756 feet for the same period of last year, the increase being 20 per cent. A new all-time mark for world lumber exports is practically assured.

The domestic trade also showed marked improvement, with shipments to eastern Canada, the Atlantic Coast and miscellaneous points reaching 142,271,390, against 45,499,636 feet last year.

Power House At Hedley Burned

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 23.—Word was received here today that the power house of Gold Mountain Mines Ltd., near Hedley, B.C., had been destroyed by fire last night.

The buildings and contents, including a Diesel power plant, were reported fully insured. Damage was estimated at $7,000.

Montreal Loses Legion Meet

Associated Press
Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—New York was unanimously named the 1937 American Legion convention city today.

The unanimous ballot meant defeat of Canada's hopes that the legion would choose Montreal and thus meet outside the United States for the first time since the Paris convention about ten years ago.

Canada Votes "Yes" on Proposal; Question Will Not Be Sent to World Court; Hot Debate Staged

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Geneva, Sept. 23.—The League of Nations Assembly, by a vote of 39 to 4, tonight adopted a report of its credentials committee recommending that the Ethiopian delegates be seated.

Canada voted "Yes" when the roll call was taken.

The report also decided against submission of the Ethiopian question to the World Court. The Ethiopians refrained from voting.

The committee in drafting its report, decided in favor of Ethiopian participation in the Assembly because of existing doubts as to the delegates' credentials. The Ethiopians, the committee held, should be given the benefit of these doubts.

Several dramatic incidents marked the session of the committee.

NO MORE NONSENSE

Just before the decision was reached, Foreign Secretary Eden of Great Britain jumped to his feet and exclaimed: "Enough of this nonsense! There never has been any sufficient ground to unseat the Ethiopian delegation."

Almost all the small nations on the committee fought for the Ethiopians, with Foreign Commissar Litvinoff of Russia also taking a leading role. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

TAX PENALTIES TO START SOON

Additional Charges Against Current Taxes to Begin October 2

First of a series of penalties on unpaid 1936 taxes will be applied on October 2, George Okell, city assessor-collector, announced today.

The original charge will be 1 per cent on the outstanding taxes. On November 3, it will be increased by another of a like amount and a third 1 per cent will be added on November 17. On December 3, the penalty will be increased by 3 per cent, making the charge at that date 6 per cent.

The charges are made against those who fail to meet their levy by the beginning of October and are increased on the above dates to accelerate collections.

Hurt Seamen Removed Here

Two Engineers From Danish Freighter Asbjorn Burned By Boiling Oil

Badly burned by a blowback in the heating furnace, two young engineers of the Danish freighter Asbjorn were removed from their ship in the Royal Roads early this morning and rushed by launch and ambulance to the Jubilee Hospital, where, early this afternoon, they were resting as comfortably as possible.

The injured men are Martin H. Madsen, twenty-seven, fourth engineer, and Peter A. Therkelsen, twenty-two, junior assistant engineer, both of Copenhagen. Mr. Madsen is most seriously hurt.

The two men were on duty in the ship's engine room at 12:30 o'clock this morning, as the ship neared Victoria to drop her pilot, before proceeding to sea. When the blowback occurred they were sprayed with boiling oil.

The captain of the ship immediately wirelessed Victoria to have medical care waiting. By 2:30 o'clock both men were in the Jubilee Hospital, under the care of Dr. A. E. McKicking.

The Asbjorn rode at anchor in the Royal Roads until 11 o'clock this morning before proceeding to sea en route to Australia.

The two men will be forced to spend some weeks in hospital, and will then be sent to Denmark.

UNIVERSITY IS ASSISTED

Extra Students in Applied Science Course Accepted With Government Aid

Associated Press
At a conference between Premier Pattullo, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, and President L. S. Klinek of the University of British Columbia, this morning, arrangements were made to enlarge the facilities for the applied science course at the university to care for forty additional students.

The course had been limited to 120 students, but 160 applied for admission.

The government, after discussing the situation with the university head, agreed to make a grant of $5,000. This will help pay extra staff to care for the larger student body. The rest will be taken care of by the additional fees.

In making the announcement, Premier Pattullo said: "I wish to make it plain that we regarded this strictly as an emergency, and our decision is not to be taken as a precedent. We cannot possibly accede to every request of this kind."

Bombs Burst In Buenos Aires

Associated Press

B.C. Legislature Opens October 27

Fourth Session of Present House to Deal With Municipalities; Opposition Manoeuvres Will Be Watched

The eighteenth Legislature of British Columbia will assemble in Victoria for its fourth session on October 27.

Premier Pattullo this morning announced the date of the opening. The forty-eight legislators will assemble here for the second time during the present calendar year, having dispersed from the spring session at the end of March.

It is the third time in the last fifteen years that the House has met within a year. There were spring and fall sessions in 1921 and 1926.

Associated Press
Shanghai, Sept. 23.—Commanders of a Japanese naval landing party declared martial law tonight in a huge area in the northern section of the International Settlement, where three Japanese marines were shot, one fatally.

The Japanese marines, less than three hours after the shooting, occupied the entire Hongkew area and assumed full control, supplanting the international police.

Similar action was taken during the siege of 1932. Japanese authorities, reinforcing their permanent landing party of 2,000 with additional marines from the flagship Idzumo, now in the Whangpoo River, sent bluejackets also into the Chinese area adjacent to that part of the International Settlement where the shooting occurred.

Authorities of the International Settlement immediately called out a Russian company of 600 men, part of the Settlement defence corps. They were standing by, ready for instant duty in the event of an emergency.

COUNCIL OF CHURCH MEETS

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—With the day given over to devotional services, the seventh meeting of the General Council of the United Church opened here today.

Tonight the council will turn to business following opening services in Chalmers United Church, where for the past two days delegates to the meeting have been gathering for registration. Approximately 300 commissioners are now here to attend the meeting, which will last ten days.

Election of a new Moderator to succeed Right Rev. Richard Robb, D.D. of Toronto, will be the outstanding item of business on tonight's agenda.

SPEEDY ACTION

Japanese authorities stated: "Before the night is over we shall take adequate steps to protect Japanese lives and property in Shanghai."

They enlarged the martial law area as the night wore on, extending Japanese marine control to the north bank of Soochow Creek, which runs through the heart of the International Settlement.

This was on the same line established by Japanese, with machine guns, during the 1932 Shanghai fighting.

Numerous foreign hotels, the International Settlement post office and other prominent public institutions were within the Japanese-controlled area.

AT CONSULATE

The cruiser Idzumo, flagship of the Japanese Third Fleet, landed 100 Japanese marines, who immediately took up special guard duty around the local Japanese consulate.

Other important Japanese centres are located in the Hongkew district of the International Settlement, where a majority of Shanghai's Japanese residents reside.

The shooting occurred shortly after 8 p.m.

NAGANO COMMANDS NAVY

Tokio, Sept. 23 (Associated Press).—Admiral Osami Nagano, Minister of the Navy, assumed active command of the Japanese fleet tonight following news three Japanese sailors had been shot, one fatally, at Shanghai.

Nagano cancelled a previous schedule to accompany Emperor Hirohito on his tour of army war manoeuvres to remain here to direct disposition of naval forces in Chinese waters.

"Virtually war-time measures" were instituted by the Japanese landing party in that part of the International Settlement where the shooting occurred, Domei, the Japanese news agency said.

The Japanese acting consul-general at Shanghai filed stern protests both with the International Settlement and Chinese city authorities.

Official spokesmen of the civilian branch of the Tokio government described the Shanghai situation as "extremely grave."

W. E. G. Murray to Be Radio Manager

B.C.-born Official of British Corporation Chosen By Canada's New Board; Dr. A. Frigon of Montreal Assistant

Associated Press
Ottawa, Sept. 23.—The government has before it suggestions for the appointment of Major W. E. Gladstone Murray of the British Broadcasting Corporation and Dr. Augustin Frigon, chairman of the Quebec Electricity Commission, to be general manager and assistant general manager, respectively, of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The new act will go into force November 2.

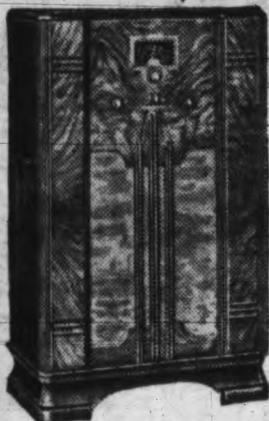

The recommendations had the unanimous support of eight members of the governing body of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, which late yesterday completed its first meeting here. The ninth member of the new board, Brig-Gen. Victor W. Gullum of Vancouver, was unable to attend the meeting.

LETTER MADE PUBLIC
Chairman L. W. Brockington of the governing body of the Canadian Radio Corporation made public a communication which he had addressed to Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, in which it was stated both the men being discussed for appointment were willing to accept. The salaries suggested by the board of governors to Mr. Howe are: for general manager $13,000 per annum, less statutory deductions; assistant general manager $42,000, less statutory deductions. In both cases, it was stated, the salaries are substantially less than those received by Major Murray and Dr. Frigon at present.

NO DELAY WANTED

In writing to Mr. Howe, the chairman of the radio board stated his opinion and that of his colleagues it was essential in the national interest that at the date of inauguration under the act (November 2), the corporation should be able to function promptly and efficiently. Consequently it would be necessary for the manager and assistant manager to be able to begin their duties on the day the new corporation came into legal existence; in order that this might be the case all arrangements must be made beforehand.

"We have carefully surveyed the situation and considered the names of gentlemen qualified by education, experience, ability and character to hold these important positions," the board stated in its communication to the Minister of Transport.

Major Murray was born in Maple Ridge, B.C., in 1893, the son of Paul Murray, who came to Canada in 1870 from Tarn, Rosshire, Scotland and his wife, nee Hannah Mackay. He was educated at the King Edward High School, Vancouver, and was winner of an exhibition to McGill University in 1909, graduating in arts in 1912. He founded the McGill Daily in 1911.

He was chosen Rhodes Scholar for Quebec in 1913. He attended New College, Oxford, reading jurisprudence until the outbreak of the Great War. On August 4, 1914, he joined King Edward's Horse. Until February 15, 1919, he served successively in the King Edward's Horse, the Highland Light Infantry, the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Air Force. In the latter he had a distinguished flying record and was famous for his chivalrous act of flying behind enemy lines to drop a wreath on the airfield of the great German ace Baron von Richthofen.

From 1919 to 1920 Major Murray was special correspondent of The Daily Express, London. From 1920 to 1922 he was public relations officer of the League of Nations Union, London.

In 1922 Major Murray joined the

No Early Reform Of World League

Geneva Expectation Is That Proposals Will Be Given to Committee of Experts For Report at Future Session

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Geneva, Sept. 23.—The problem of reform of the League of Nations slipped into the background today. Delegations from the different countries of the British Empire discussed together various proposals submitted, from those aiming at a purely consultative league to those suggesting a league with still stronger teeth. The general opinion is that no step will be taken at the present Assembly meeting beyond general discussion and reference to an expert committee for examination and a subsequent report.

It is unlikely New Zealand's sweeping scheme will be pressed in the present Assembly beyond reference to the expert committee. New Zealand suggested a stronger league, backed by an international police force.

ATTACK EDEN ON ETHIOPIA

Foreign Secretary Scored in British Press Over League Debate Yesterday

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Sept. 23.—Foreign Secretary Eden was under heavy fire today for falling yesterday to support Ethiopia in its fight to retain its seat in the League of Nations Assembly, as Conservative newspapers bitterly criticized the "juggernaut comedy" at Geneva.

It was Eden who encouraged the Abyssinians to prolong their resistance, declared The London Daily Express. "What a disgraceful thing it is that Eden should now abandon Haile Selassie!"

While criticizing the Foreign Secretary's position, the press generally agreed that the proposal to bring the Ethiopian problem before the World Court would be likely to drag it out for several months, and by eliminating the chance of Italian co-operation make impossible the accomplishment of tasks for which the Assembly was summoned.

Without Italy's co-operation the main purpose for which the league has been called together can make no advance," declared The London Daily Telegraph.

At today's League session Mr. Eden said: "Enough of this nonsense! There never has been any sufficient ground to unseat the Ethiopian delegation."

Bakery Drivers Out on Strike

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 23.—Bakery wagon drivers who went out on strike last Saturday at Robertson's Bakeries Limited with demands for a minimum weekly wage of $23, had failed to return to work today, S. C. Boyd, bakery manager, announced.

"We are maintaining our service with a skeleton crew and will augment it as we see fit, building up a new business from the ground up, if necessary," Boyd said.

Bert Showler, secretary of the Bakery Bakers' Union, said thirty-six drivers and seven members of the plant's staff were on strike.

Lisbon, Sept. 23.—Six hundred Spanish government militiamen, accompanied by fifty women and children, fled across the Portuguese border today hotly pursued by a fascist column. Portuguese authorities disarmed and arrested the Socialist troops near Amaraljo, in south-east Portugal.

London, Sept. 23 (Canadian Press).—Sir George McLaren Brown shortly will retire as European general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, it was announced here today.

It is understood he plans to take a long holiday in Canada, after which he will reside in England. The C.P.R. staff here is arranging a farewell.

Sweden to Have New Cabinet

Associated Press
Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 23.—Per Albin Hansson, former Premier and leader of the Social Democrats, today accepted a call from King Gustaf to form a new cabinet.

The Social Democrats regained control of the Swedish parliamentary chamber in elections Sunday. Premier Axel Pehrson resigned today.

Pehrson, leader of the Agrarian Party, became head of the government June 18 after the Socialist cabinet of former Premier Per-Albin Hansson resigned June 15 following defeat of a Socialist-sponsored old-age pension bill in Parliament.

To Declare Against War

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Sept. 23.—A declaration that the United Church will not countenance future wars will, it is understood, be made during the meeting here of the church's General Council.

Four conferences of the church have sponsored a resolution on the agenda under the heading "Peace and War," and it is anticipated that during general discussion of this resolution a specific declaration will be forthcoming.

The opening ceremonies of the Council's meeting were held today in Chalmers Church.

Neutrality Causes One of Leaders to Resign

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Sept. 23.—Disagreements within the Socialist Party over Premier Blum's Spanish neutrality policy today led to the resignation of Jean Zyromski, prominent left-wing Socialist leader.

Zyromski quit his post with the Socialist Federation of the Seine as a demonstrative protest against Premier Blum's policy.

Pursuing a line similar to that of the Communists, Zyromski has demanded the lifting of the embargo on arms to the Spanish Government.

Meanwhile new strikes broke out to add to the difficulties of the government. More than 6,000 chocolate factory workers in eighteen plants located in Paris and the Seine district occupied their shops today, demanding application of their collective contracts.

Twenty miles from Madrid
Associated Press
Rabat, French Morocco, Sept. 23.—The insurgent radio station at Seville, Spain, today contended Gen. Francisco Franco's armies were attacking Navalcarnero, twenty miles from Madrid.

Another column, pressed beyond Tortosa, only eighteen miles from Toledo, the station said.

The insurgent radio station at Cadiz said President Manuel Azana of Spain wanted to surrender to the fascist armies, but that Premier Francisco Largo Caballero was opposing such a step, insisting resistance still was possible.

By AMES C. OLDFIELD
Associated Press Correspondent
With Government Forces at Santa Cruz Del Retamar, Spain, Sept. 23.—Exhausted Socialist troops, fighting a losing battle in heavy rains with only watermelons and grapes for food, rallied today for a daring counter-offensive against onrushing fascists.

Leaders of the latter government, militia sent their war-weary troops to a few hours' rest as they mapped plans for bolstering the government defences, now pushed back to a point only thirty-eight miles from Madrid.

MOVING IN MUD
Heavy rains churned the ground into fields of mud. Militiamen grumbled as they recounted the serious need for replacement of food and munition supplies.

The government retreat was declared partly due to the mud, mud since the Socialists were forced to abandon Maqueda, strategic highway junction forty-five miles from the capital, when they ran out of shells for their field guns.

Associated Press
Madrid, Sept. 23.—The Popular Front, except the National Workers' Federation, issued a joint manifesto today expressing confidence of a government victory and appealing for unanimous support. Similar appeals were published in the leftist press.

The government announced Rafael Salazar Alonso, former Minister of the Interior, had been executed. (The Communist newspaper Humanite in Paris said yesterday Salazar Alonso had been killed for complicity in the rebellion.)

The government, in an official communique, announced its armies had "annihilated" an insurgent column of 4,000 men in the Somosierra region of the Guadarrama Mountains.

The communique said 412 bodies already had been recovered.

NORTHERN BATTLE
By ROBERT B. PARKER JR.
Associated Press Correspondent
Ermua, Spain, Sept. 23 (By Warship to Saint Jean de Luz, France).—Government militiamen fought doggedly today to halt a fascist advance eighty miles east of Bilbao.

Fewer than 2,000 men formed the Socialist's last line of defence extending from Ondarroa, on the coast, to Elgoibar. Of these, 200 were foreigners led by Jacques Manachem, a French reserve officer.

Government officials declared newly-arrived supplies of munitions would be adequate for the defence of Bilbao, but militiamen in the front line said a shortage was making it difficult to hold the fascists.

Socialist officers acknowledged the insurgents would have "an easy walk" once they had passed Durango and entered the plain surrounding Bilbao.

BREAD SUPPLY LOW
Officials said two Scandinavian freighters had landed a large supply of wheat for the defence of Bilbao. With food scarce, Bilbao residents were limited to a half-pound of bread a day. A government freighter loaded with food was sunk off Vigo by insurgents.

League of Nations Financial Committee Commends Currency Devaluation

Associated Press
Geneva, Sept. 23.—What some delegates regarded as an indirect commendation of currency devaluation was contained in a report of the League of Nations financial committee yesterday.

The report said that in all countries the fall of prices had profoundly disturbed relations between the cost of production and the prices of goods produced, and between the burden of debt and the reduced incomes caused by the receding prices.

It continued: "Certain countries, by allowing their currencies to depreciate, were able first to stop the further fall of the price level and then to induce a moderate rise."

"The general effect of this and similar measures of deflation was to restore to a greater extent the equilibrium between the cost and prices and between the burden of debt and incomes—that is, to achieve internal economic equilibrium."

The report added that it might well be thought that dollar and sterling countries, which have made good progress in economic activities, "would hardly wish deliberately to embark on a policy of further devaluation of their currencies, that measures taken by other countries to adjust their price levels do not exceed what is required for their internal equilibrium."

ONTARIO MILK COST SURVEY

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Sept. 23.—A one-year survey in which 1,500 farmers will help the Department of Agriculture determine the cost of producing milk in Ontario has been started in the province, it was disclosed today.

Objects of the programme, launched co-operatively by the Ontario Agricultural College and the department, are to give milk producers' associations complete information on costs so they may deal more effectively with their marketing problems, to enable them to assemble unbiased information on the dairyman's condition and be in a position to deal more intelligently with needs of their constituents, to enable them to focus attention on factors entering milk production and disclose methods by which costs may be reduced and net returns to farmers increased.

CIVIL SERVICE HEAD DUE HERE

National Secretary to Address Local Group Tomorrow Evening

Civil Servants of Victoria will hear Fred Knowles, Ottawa, national secretary of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada, tomorrow evening in the Bastion Street headquarters of the local branch, J. R. Cleator, Vancouver Island delegate to the national convention, stated yesterday evening. The convention in Calgary, from September 15 to 18, was highly successful, the island delegate reported. Forty-six representatives attended from Halifax to Victoria and endorsed all but ten of the 179 resolutions placed before them. Jarvis Graham, Vancouver, was selected as British Columbia vice-president at the convention. C. J. Goslin, Winnipeg, was named president.

School Trustees Will Meet Here

B.C. Association, in Convention at Penticton,
Chooses Victoria For
1937 Gathering

Canadian Press
Penticton, B.C., Sept. 23.—The British Columbia School Trustees' convention today named the close of its three-day convention after naming Victoria the 1937 convention city.

Problems of school financing and changes in school taxes to distribute the costs of education more evenly were dealt with in resolutions passed yesterday.

One resolution approved calls for a change in the scheme of school taxation whereby everyone over twenty-one would be taxed for school purposes and the second recommends setting up of a committee to study various methods of school financing and general financial re-organization.

The delegates felt land owners carry too great a burden in taxes for education, and claimed non-property owners should share this cost.

HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE

The association will ask the Department of Education to create a special certificate in household science, this certificate to be given to every girl who completes the high school household science course.

Holders of these certificates would thus have a proof of their training as a reference in entering domestic service, it was said.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

A discussion on vocational training in schools, brief, but heated, came after the delegates had adopted an amendment to the School Act which would permit arbitration before a county court judge of disputes between school boards and city councils over school estimates.

"This convention is acting like an ostrich and is burying its head, rather than face facts as they are," said Miss M. Osterhout of Vancouver.

"It has talked off and on for two days about vocational education and the placing of youngsters in the industry of the country, but there is no place in the industry for these people, and we would be much better advised to find the reason of this than to train children for jobs that do not exist, and never will."

R. H. Neelands followed Miss Osterhout.

"Our technical school education is not being taken advantage of by industry, so the cry of industry that trained men are not available would seem to be without point," he declared. "As a result of our not being able to place the youths passing through school the morale has been destroyed."

In connection with the proposed arbitration between school boards and councils delegates sponsoring the amendment said any decision of the county court judge would be final.

Blind Jews In Reich Pay More

Associated Press
Berlin, Sept. 23.—Blind Jewish war veterans have lost the privilege of reduced monthly telephone rates. The Ministry of Posts and Telegraphs, which previously extended preferential reduced rate privileges to all blind veterans, announced cancellation of the concession for all non-Aryans.

The official statement gave no reason for the action.

THRONE MOVE IN AUSTRIA

Otto in Letters Indicates
Willingness to Return
From Belgium

Canadian Press from Hava
Innsbruck, Austria, Sept. 23.—Austrian Royalty today were cheered by a personal bid for restoration of the monarchy from Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, pretender to the Austrian throne.

From his exile in Steenockerzeel Castle in Belgium, the youthful pretender informed his followers in Austria that an appeal which constituted a genuine expression of the will of the people would not pass unnoticed, despite selfish opposition to me.

The archduke's personal appeal was contained in letters carried here by his elder sister, Archduchess Adelaide, and addressed to several Tyrolean communities which have named Otto an honorary citizen.

The archduke declared his response to a restoration demand from the "Austrian people" would be facilitated in such a manner that my ascendancy to the throne could in no way violate a foreign law, and a restoration of the monarchy could thus be legalized.

Auto of 1901 Is To Run Again

Canadian Press
Shubencade, N.S., Sept. 23.—William G. Nelson said today he would furnish up his thirty-six-year-old automobile and drive down to Halifax to see if she could win the "Nova Scotia's Oldest Car" title in a contest there.

William said it is still road-worthy, though it has been lying unused these twenty-five years. It was the finest in models when it came out in 1901.

It can clip off ten miles an hour easily, the owners says.

National Peace Week Planned

League of Nations Society in Canada Asks Schools and Churches Share in Appeal Week Nov. 8-14

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Sept. 23.—National Peace Action Week, during which churches will be invited to organize special services, while schools, clubs and other interested organizations will be asked to plan programmes designed to stimulate interest in international affairs, will be observed the week beginning November 8. It is announced by the League of Nations Society in Canada. The decision was made at a meeting of the national executive committee.

Montreal, Sept. 23.—A suggestion a large fund, contributed to by all members of the League of Nations, should be placed at the disposal of any League member whose territory is invaded, was advanced by Dr. Hans Simons of Germany in a discussion of the European situation and League affairs at a meeting of the Montreal branch of the League of Nations Society yesterday evening.

Application of sanctions, the speaker held, was the wrong device for protecting a League member from attack. "The real task of the League," he declared, "is to guarantee League members against one particular method of changing existing world relations and that method is by attacking other nations and the use of force. Force cannot be suppressed by any other means than by force."

If such a fund as he advocated were only 10 per cent of the amount spent today on armaments it would amount to more than $2,000,000,000, Dr. Simons held. He is a member of the faculty of the New School of Social Research in New York and formerly was director of the Academy of Politics in Berlin.

SEES FIELD FOR NEW SETTLERS

Sir P. Hannon Believes
British Families Could Succeed in Saskatchewan

Saskatoon, Sept. 23.—Expressing "genuine surprise" at the great agricultural progress and development in the near-frontier districts of northern Saskatchewan, which he toured in the last ten days, Sir Patrick Hannon, British M.P. and chairman of a House of Commons committee on empire migration problems, attended an immigration conference here today at which the well-known Hornby Plan was discussed.

In an interview with the Canadian Press, Sir Patrick said he thought the wooded areas of Saskatchewan well suited to British settlers.

Provided British immigrants received good preliminary training, adequate financial backing and a good probationary course in Canada, he foresaw success for the Hornby scheme.

Any immigration scheme was a matter for Canadians, however, and the sympathy of Canadians was another factor in the success of any plan. In any event the plan would not cost Canadians anything.

Intimidation of foreign elements he saw as a "menace"—perhaps that's not the word but I can think of no other," he said. "Sound British immigration would eliminate this danger, he believed."

CANADA SENDS CATTLE TO U.S.

Alberta Ranchers Are Profiting From Upswing in Prices

Canadian Press
Calgary, Sept. 23.—Paced with a winter feed shortage, Alberta cattlemen have watched export trade and prices on the upgrade during the past ten days and have disposed of thousands of animals in the United States and eastern Canada.

Shippers reported the heaviest movement in a year and it was estimated today that 25,000 head of cattle as compared with earlier estimates of 50,000, would be destined for processing by packers under the government's one-cent-a-pound plan.

Railway reports showed shipments going forward to Chicago, St. Paul, eastern Canada and to British Columbia, Tacoma, Seattle and Portland.

Prices have kept pace. Six weeks ago stockers and feeders sold at $2.75 a hundredweight. Yesterday the price was $3.50 a hundredweight.

German Trade Talk at Ottawa

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Sept. 23.—Discussions of a new trade agreement with Germany will be continued this week. A delegation from Berlin will come here to take up negotiations where they ended two months ago when Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, visited the German capital in the course of a tour that took him through most of Europe.

The German trade delegation is expected to arrive in Ottawa some time today.

Embassy Man Stabbed By Thug

Tokio, Sept. 23.—Earle R. Dickover, first secretary and charge d'affaires of the United States Embassy, was painfully—but not dangerously—wounded when stabbed in the left arm by a burglar in his home early today. A physician said Dickover was weakened by loss of blood, but that his wounds should heal within two weeks.

French Police Find Deserter
Who Stayed Indoors
Twenty-two Years

Associated Press
Nancy, France, Sept. 23.—After twenty-two years, gendarmes last night arrested Armand Joseph Bolon in the home of his parents, where he had been hiding since he was registered as an army deserter August 7, 1914.

Bolon, wounded in fighting near Mulhouse, French city near the Rhine, obtained permission to visit his parents after he had left the hospital. He was listed as a deserter when he failed to report to his regiment by the required date.

French police believed they had traced Bolon to Switzerland, and ordered border guards to keep watch for him. No further information concerning him was uncovered until last Monday, when gendarmes were informed he had hidden in his parents' home at Andertay near Nancy.

An investigation, the gendarmes reported, disclosed Bolon had never left his parents' home since given

Power Will Be Sent Over Border

Manitoba Hydro Will Supply
Points in North Dakota

Winnipeg, Sept. 23.—Transmission of power over Manitoba hydro system lines into the United States for distribution to points in North Dakota shortly will place the province in the hydro-electric export field. The export is sanctioned by the Dominion Government, which restricts the quantity to 1,000 kilowatts, according to Herbert Cottingham, chairman of the Manitoba Power Commission.

A half-mile extension to present distribution lines at Greta will connect with the interstate power lines at the international border. Arrangements are being made to supply Neche and several North Dakota towns adjacent to the boundary, Mr. Cottingham said.

A BROKEN-OUT SKIN is no asset to any girl or boy. But, after the beginning of adolescence—from about 13 to 25, or even longer—many young people are troubled by unsightly pimples.

During these years, important glands develop and final growth takes place. This causes disturbances throughout the body. The skin gets oversensitive. Waste poisons in the blood irritate this sensitive skin and pimples appear.

Fleischmann's fresh Yeast clears these skin irritants out of the blood. Then—pimples go! Eat 2 cakes daily, one before meals, or at bedtime—plain, or in a little water—until skin is clear. Start today!

He Knows His Business

IT HAS BEEN SUGGESTED, TO THE Dominion Government by the newly-appointed radio board that Major W. E. Gladstone Murray of the British Broadcasting Corporation be elected to the important and responsible position of general manager of the Canadian system.

It is difficult for the uninitiated to pass judgment on the wisdom or otherwise of the proposed appointment; but Major Murray's experience during the years of radio development in more than a decade would suggest that the authorities at Ottawa have made an exceedingly wise choice. For fourteen years Major Murray has been associated with the British "wireless" organization—they still call it "wireless"—over there—and has had the opportunity of studying this uncanny scientific revolution in the most practical fashion. As far back as 1922 he joined the staff of the British Broadcasting Company, the private corporation which preceded the present British Broadcasting Corporation. He has been director of public relations and manager of the official publication of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

It will not be necessary to suggest to Major Murray that, should he accept the invitation to take the position of general manager of Canada's broadcasting system, his task will not be an easy one. He has had enough experience in London with the B.B.C. to know what he will be likely to encounter when he begins his job of "controlling" the air in his native country. For, it should be noted, Major Murray is a native son of British Columbia. He first saw the light of day at Maple Ridge in 1893.

The question of language, dominantly French and English in Canada, should not bother him unduly. Propinquity on the other side of the Atlantic to stations in Nordic and Latin countries naturally has furnished him with a type of "wireless" diplomacy which he may be able to employ on this continent—where, as he fully comprehends, he will have to pit the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation against the powerful organizations on the south of the forty-ninth parallel. Possibly, however, he will be in a position to evolve some plan of co-operation mutually advantageous to both Canada and the United States.

Lloyd George and Hitler

GREAT BRITAIN'S WAR-TIME Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, has been hob-nobbing with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Germany. And this was what the wily little Welshman is supposed to have said:

Chancellor Hitler is one of the greatest of the great men I have ever met. I have never seen a happier people than the Germans. The Nazi system is a great achievement.

What has happened to the man on his Churt farm in Surrey? We quote from the Canadian Press and the French news-gathering agency, Havas.

In an interview with a representative of the Liberal News Chronicle, Lloyd George said he was convinced that for at least ten years war between Russia and the Reich is impracticable, even if the Reich desired war, which she certainly does not, unless other and better-equipped nations interfere and attack her.

The German army is formidable for defence because of the splendid spirit of the men, because of the first-class equipment of machines and guns, the greatest of defensive weapons, and because of her powerful fortifications, but is not an army for marching across the frontier with any hope for success.

Hitler naturally wants Meinel and Danzig. They are as German as Hull is English and even more than Cardiff is Welsh. But he has no desire to absorb the millions of Slavs, whom he would regard as an offence to his doctrine of racial purity.

Mr. Lloyd George furnished inspiration to the Allied peoples during the dark days of the Great War. He was a dynamic force—he got things done. But he slipped badly, politically, when he clung to office after the khaki election of 1918. His Tory associates ousted him from office at their famous Carlton Club meeting in 1922.

Now, fourteen years after, he says that Chancellor Hitler "is one of the greatest of the great men I have ever met." Yet it was the same Lloyd George who said, only a few days after the Armistice, that he would demand by Holland the surrender of Wilhelm Hohenzollern, the Kaiser who bolted his country, and get him hanged to the nearest lamp-post.

The Limehouse orator ought to recall a really fine oration at the Old Exeter Hall—now the Strand Palace Hotel, London—in 1906. He was then speaking to the Y.M.C.A. The Y.M.C.A. was not then, never will be, a political organization.

Exeter Hall, in the Strand, was then its headquarters. The principles for which the Y.M.C.A. stands are probably anti-Nazi.

How Wars Start

IF WE WOULD DISCOVER WHERE much of the danger of war lies we have only to turn our eyes toward France, where thousands of striking workmen have demanded French support of the Madrid Loyalists.

Although such intervention in the Spanish conflict would almost certainly mean a general war, these French sympathizers threaten the Blum government with the gravest test of its regime. The prospect of another European war, which Premier Blum has pointed out, seems not to deter them in the least.

It demonstrates how easily the intolerance of a people can drive a nation to the brink of war. It demonstrates, also, that if a nation expects to have perpetual peace, the hope for that peace rests largely with the people themselves.

Britain's Role

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN SAID that the empire may show weakness at its periphery but must remain strong at the core. Great Britain can afford temporary weakness in distant lands as long as her central position as a great power in Europe remains intact.

Partisans of isolation as Britain's logical role should remember, writes "Augur," one of London's best-informed commentators on world affairs, that this is possible only on the condition that Europe leave Great Britain alone.

"Of this there is no sign at present," he goes on. "In the middle of the European community is a power, immensely strong, extremely poor, and dedicated to the religion of war. Germany seems to aspire to capture Europe and then to exact tribute. Great Britain is the richest country. Isolation does not increase her safety from a predatory attack."

Commenting on the hope for peace believed implicit in the thoroughgoing rearmament of Britain, "Augur" writes:

"From end to end, forward and backward across Europe, move waves of social unrest. At times they recede from Britain; only to approach again. They foam over into British political life. Communism and the Fascist movement, National Socialism and the Popular Front—these are the outward signs of a great upheaval. The British community is drawn into it. On this count, if on no other, Great Britain belongs to Europe."

"The position of this country in Europe depends upon its prestige among the nations. But prestige, as events in 1935 and thus far in 1936 have shown, cannot be fed on memories of the past. It needs the backing of real force. Hence the present feverish haste of British rearmament. It is the duty of statesmen to see that this effort will not be in vain."

Good Roads—Good Investment

AT THE MEETING OF THE GOOD Roads League of British Columbia at Vernon on Monday, Hon. F. M. MacPherson, provincial Minister of Public Works, gave a definite assurance that as soon as funds would permit, an improvement-of-highways programme would be put into operation.

This is about all that Mr. MacPherson could promise. The government is compelled to look into its "stocking" almost every day to find out what shekels there are to meet the ordinary "dues" of governmental business. It might not be infra dig to suggest that Hon. John Hart's hair would not be as white as it is—although it is quite becoming—if he could tell of every delegation that waits upon him for the Oliver Twist ration that there would be "more."

The government, however, should realize that if British Columbia is to cash in on its tourist trade more lucratively every year—this province's best bet financially—it must devise ways and means of improving the surface of the highways.

Court's Dilemma

THE DRUNKEN MOTOR CAR driver is one of the most vexing problems the police and courts face these days. For he requires them to treat as a criminal a man who is not, ordinarily, a criminal at all.

He is usually a man with a steady job and some standing in his own circle; if he is sentenced to a month or so in jail for driving while drunk, as the law requires, he is apt to lose his job and his family is certain to suffer.

For this reason he is treated with consideration; in many cities it is the policy to give him a good scare and then let him go.

It can be argued that such a policy is a great mistake. The drunken driver and his family may suffer unduly if the letter of the law is followed—but society as a whole suffers unduly if drunks drive cars. After all, no one compels any man to get stiff and then sit behind a steering wheel. And the man who does so is as great a menace, for the moment, as a maniac with a meat axe.

Notes

With all this banning and denouncing it will surprise us if "Green Pastures" earns its producers less than $5,000,000.

Democratic government is a mirror in which the common man sees his own virtues and his own failings. To improve it we must start at the very bottom—with ourselves.

Passengers returning here from Honolulu report a "No Children Allowed" sign over the maternity ward in a hospital there. Proof, no doubt, of the extent to which birth control propaganda will go.

Harry Ferrie, nudist camp operator, complains: "You ain't got no pockets to stick your hands in and your ain't got no suspenders or vest to tuck your thumbs in." Be patient, Harry. Look what time and nature have done for the kangaroo!

A petition opposing war, now being circulated around the world, bears the names of 10,000,000 Europeans against armed conflict. The ultimate goal is 50,000,000 signatures, to constitute a potent formal solicitation of all governments to end war. In war's stead are sought disarmament, improved peace machinery, and closer economic relations among nations. It is an optimistic plan, of course, but if it serves only to point up peace objectives in the public mind, it will have been worth while.

LOOSE ENDS

The Canadians start to move about and raise an interesting question—Gerry's harvest is pretty bitter—Mr. Lloyd George is proud of his work—and the civil war is fierce out this way.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

NATION OR WHAT?

THE ANNUAL AUTUMN TREK of unemployed men from the prairies into British Columbia has started and there are loud wails about it, as usual. It is said that these men should be prevented from coming to British Columbia, that they have no right here, that they should be stopped at the border, because we have more than our share of the unemployment problem.

This is an interesting theory of nationhood and symptomatic of our general state of national consciousness in this country. For apparently, according to this view, a man is a citizen of British Columbia, or Alberta, or Ontario and not of Canada. If he is a citizen of Alberta, he should not be allowed to move out of the province—unless he has plenty of money. If he is unemployed, he is not to be considered a citizen of British Columbia on any account. The fact that he is a citizen of neither, but a citizen of Canada, seems to be overlooked altogether. It would not be overlooked, however, in the event of war. He would be conscripted wherever he was.

What we have got to decide in this country, and it is high time we did, is whether we are nine little nations or one big one. If we are nine little nations, the sooner we set about erecting frontiers and customs barriers, and separate economic arrangements (as Alberta is trying to do) the better. If we are a nation, we should begin to act as one. The first thing we shall have to recognize, if we are a nation, is that the common law of the land is in any part of Canada and has as much right to be in any part as another; has a right to roam from Victoria to Halifax, so long as he obeys the law, has as much right to a job here in British Columbia as any British Columbian has. This is a doctrine which most British Columbians would like, for the reason that most of them are British Columbians first and Canadians afterwards.

The same may be said of most other provinces as well; and if the present tendency toward violent provincialism continues, if we are to keep on creating new watertight compartments, like a separate province on Vancouver Island, we shall develop after a time a system of city states, like those of ancient Greece, and you will see the national army of Vancouver, led by Mayor McGeer, conducting an invasion of Montreal, defended by the gallant General Houde, while Victoria is besieged by the league of up-island city states in temporary alliance against the common enemy over a fair division of the tourist industry.

It is true, of course, that British Columbia has to bear far more than its share of unemployment relief, but this does not mean that Canadians are not entitled to come here. It means that the problem is a national one and should be handled nationally by the national government.

GERRY'S HARVEST

SCORING ANOTHER exclusive news scoop on the rest of the paper, this column is able to reveal the climax of our friend Gerry's adventures in domesticity. You may recall, if you have a memory for important events, how Gerry settled down this year to what he called a "garden" and how a kind neighbor gave him some nice squash plants. Frankly, Gerry's intimates grew rather bored listening to his daily accounts of those squash plants and their amazing growth, the way they were spreading all over the lawn and climbing the apple trees and throttling the unfortunate tomatoes. We listened to it all summer, till we were weary of the thing, and the apple trees, to the vain glory of a vain gardener, were left to face with nature for the first time, and we almost began to wish that Gerry would go back to poker and beer drinking. Meanwhile, the squash stretched half-way down the street.

Well, today, after concealing his grisly discovery for some time, Gerry confessed the truth. The little squashes which he had squired so affectionately, like a parent squire, at his young had remained strangely little. Even Gerry's suspicions were aroused when they were only two inches long in the middle of September. And at last someone broke the hideous truth to him—they weren't squashes at all. They were wild cucumbers, quite inedible. And they had strangled the tomatoes and nearly killed the apple trees. Gerry is looking for a partner who gave him the plants and he is going back to indoor bowling.

LIFE WORK

MR. LLOYD GEORGE, the great Liberal, has come back from Germany, fairly worshipping Hitler and talking about the Nazi regime like a boy of seventeen in love for the first time. If this is the view of England's greatest Liberal, it isn't much wonder that the Liberal Party over there has been ground almost out of existence between the Conservatives and the Labor men.

Yet there is a certain grim logic in Mr. Lloyd George's conversion to Hitler and his movement. More than any living man, the sole survivor of the Big Three at Versailles, Mr. Lloyd George fastened upon the world the peace treaty which throttled any chance of democracy in Germany, which made the Nazi movement possible, which was the spiritual mother of Adolf Hitler. It is pleasant to think that, in the sunset of his life, Mr. Lloyd George can go to Germany and come home proud of his work.

CIVIL WAR

THEY HAVE BEEN PLAYING a game called Civil War out on the lawn in the last half hour, and its results confirm the studies of history. The war started with strict rules for combatants. Only acorns were to be used for munitions, and no belligerent was to be attacked while he was outside his fort gathering in necessary war materials.

"I'm the King," said the little girl from next door, "and you're the Reds. That's the way it is in Spain."

"I'm a Scotchman," said her brother. In the opening engagements the rules of warfare were strictly observed. Only acorns were used and no combatant was fired upon except while he was protected by his fort, a canvas deck chair. But presently, as nationalist passions became aroused, the King's army fired an acorn at the Reds while they were on neutral ground, and the Reds replied with a loud squeal, by hurling ten acorns back. Whereupon the King's army began to hurl sticks and the Reds replied with a shower of small pebbles.

The King's army advanced on the opposing fort and demolished it and hurled the Reds to the ground, with such shrieks that the whole neighborhood became alarmed, and when the League intervened to restore peace there were stories of hideous atrocities on both sides. Both claimed the victory, but as both were spanked, victory wasn't of much value. On the whole, it was a very modern and realistic war.

OUT OF DATE

Add to the list of obsolete phrases: "Am I the first man you ever kissed?"

FAILURE REASON

The reason religion fails some people is because they regard it as a kind of charm to prevent bad luck.

Canadian Defence

Father Smith Asks Some Pertinent Questions With Respect to the Great Armament Drive Now Under Way.

To the Editor:—The increase of Canadian defence is no doubt an unfortunate necessity in these days. But a mere layman in these matters may be excused for asking "Then why allow at the other end a vast leakage of potential war metals to possible enemies?"

One might even be excused for asking "Just what is the sense of Great Britain increasing armaments at one end and at the other allowing the reported exportation of very large quantities of high explosives to Italy immediately sanctions were lifted, and the recently reported acceptance of large orders for new army tanks for Germany on the part of British firms?" It just does not make sense, that is all.

Apparently, nothing is done to stop it. To say it is impossible to stop it is sheer nonsense. It is stopped in regard to Spain. It was stopped during sanctions. It at least was supposed to have stopped during the Great War.

It is all very well to say "If we don't do it, somebody else will." Personally, I do not think a magistrate would take that view of it, especially as an excuse for robbing a house—"If I don't do it, somebody else will."

At least in this matter let Canada keep its hands clean, and it would be far more worthy of the protection given by its sons in military.

Well, then they say: "But these nations will use something else, and 'But they need it for things like bath taps.' All right, then, let them use something else for their bath taps!"

"Oh, well," they say, "of course we must export the stuff to anyone who wants to buy it." Very well, then, are we free or are we not? And who is to say "must" to us? Just why "must" I sell the flowers in my garden if somebody wants to buy them? Am I free or am I not?

Now the common folk have got an innate suspicion that somewhere at the back of all this is—well, it's business. (Business of a certain kind only; there is plenty of honorable business left yet.)

All right, then—may we please know what it is that runs Canada? And when they say "Canada" does it mean Canadian folks, and homes, and towns and liberties, or does it really mean certain kinds of Canadian business?

One often meditates on that sort of text about "To have and to hold." (No, it is not in the Bible—the Bible quotes Our Lord as saying the exact opposite). But let it go as a sort of text: "To have and to hold." Very well—splendid—let us put it in music and sing it as an anthem. But just precisely who does the "having" and who are these millions of young men and boys—our sons—who do the "holding"? The text or anthem in certain connections has an unpleasant flavor.

It is very true that it is a poor thing to expect the taxpayers and their sons of Great Britain to protect Canada, if Canada will do little or nothing worth while to assist. It is just as poor a thing to depend on our neighbors to the south (and why will some Canadians be so unecessarily rude to them) to protect us as part of the North American continent if we do not take our fair share.

But what a vast and valuable contribution it would be, if, until there is greater guarantee of security all round, Canada exported her potential war materials only to the governments of the members of the empire and of the United States. Oh! I have just remembered hearing it said: "If we don't export our metals to certain nations they will come and take them." I see—we are afraid of them. It is a queer thing that one region of life that seems to be thoroughly, completely and amiably "internationalized" is the sort of business. It is all rather sickening.

AN ENGLISH-BORN FATHER OF CANADIAN CHILDREN REPLIES

To the Editor:—One of your correspondents who writes under various pen names such as "Veteran," "Canadian," "Jack Canuck," etc., etc., seems to consider that no one has any right to express an opinion in this country except the native-born. I suppose many like myself he regards as outsiders. I have lived in Canada for over forty years and my Canadian-born children have grown to manhood and womanhood here.

In England we have had Bonar Law, a Canadian-born, Prime Minister, Lord Greenwood also a Canadian-born, and influential politician and former Cabinet minister, Lord Beaverbrook, one of the most influential Canadian-born peers who doesn't forget to lay down the law to Englishmen. Do Englishmen snivel at these men and call them outsiders because they were not born in England. Certainly not, they are proud of them.

Your correspondent's whole attitude is in itself to the pen names he adopts.

SOCIAL STRUGGLE IN SPAIN

To the Editor:—The Spanish situation may be summed up as follows: Moscow, with all its underhand, unscrupulous, and treacherous power, versus Christianity and the system which has given us leisure, luxury, fabulous wealth, education and so many wonderful things that if we were to go back a single century we would think we were in the dark ages. Incidentally, with regard to the fierce battles in the correspondence columns of the press, between Rightist Democrats and Red Labor traitors, it seems to me they end up with the Red correspondent endeavoring to cover up his defeat by a fierce torrent of unreasoning abuse at his opponent. Christianity is surprised at the word "Red." I am a firm believer in democracy, but not Socialism, have been called "Fascist" many times for having the impudence to open my mouth about the running sores of Bolshevism.

CCC's Other Side

From The Cleveland Press

The Civilian Conservation Corps, drawn up to rehabilitate our great forest resources, seems to have been doing a pretty fair job of human rehabilitation as well.

Howard W. Oxley, director of CCC camp educational activities, reports to the War Department that 40,000 young men who were illiterate when they enrolled in the CCC now can read and write. During the past year, for instance, 92 per cent of the men who were found to be illiterate at the beginning of the year have been attending classes regularly.

Here is an activity which is every bit as important as the forest conservation work, if not more so. The prime qualification for citizenship in a democracy is that a man be at least literate. The CCC, by bringing educational opportunities to men who had been denied them, is simply justifying its existence.

And it should be possible to say this without thought of the current political campaign. The CCC is not a partisan issue. It is a national programme that has worked.

NEW ERA SINCE SEPTEMBER 16

To the Editor:—Several letters have been sent to the paper lately criticizing addresses given over the air, and also given in the Empire Theatre.

All these letters have been written under a wrong impression. They have all been under the impression that statements had been made that something out of the ordinary was going to happen on September 16, 1936.

The date, September 16, has simply been stated to be a certain period in the earth's history just as June 23 is a historical day in the life of King Edward, or that the year 500 A.D. marks a period five centuries after the birth of Christ. We are soon to celebrate the birth of Victoria. The sun did not shine any longer because of this birth nor did it cause either more or any less rain to fall. Nothing happened; why, there were very few people who even knew about it, but the city was born just the same; and since September 16, we have been living in a new era and we may be some time before we are able to see what the difference really is between the old era and the new era.

GROUP PLANS
BIG OPENING

Retail Credit Granters Will Hold Public Dinner on September 29

In preparation for the opening of the fall business season, the Credit Granters' Association of Victoria will stage their annual fall opening banquet in the Empress Hotel on September 29, commencing at 6.30 o'clock.

The association extends a public invitation to all business and professional men and their employees to attend the dinner. Reservations must be made in advance at the Credit Bureau, in the Hibson Bone Building.

Two speakers have been booked for the occasion. They are G. R. Baird, past president of the Vancouver Credit Granters' Association, and Dr. W. B. Burnett, Vancouver, retired medical man who is president of the Cariboo Gold Mines.

Mr. Baird will speak on "Profitable Credit Policies," and Dr. Burnett on "The Inheritance Tax." Both are exceptional speakers and thoroughly capable of dealing with their respective subjects.

The programme for the evening will also include musical entertainment.

The purpose of the general meeting is to acquaint all associations of business with the work of the credit granters and to promote among them a knowledge of the association's work for the general business welfare of the city.

(From The Times Files)

At the home of Mr. W. Eddie, Bank Street, a quiet but happy wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening by the Rev. R. A. MacConnell. The contracting parties were Miss Margaret Eddie and Mr. Charles Miller of Victoria.

At a meeting of the Victoria West football players held last evening, Jack Shakespeare was elected captain and Angus Robertson vice-president.

After having completed her trial trip and being placed in as staunch condition as possible in order to withstand the terrible storms which may be encountered during her 15,000-mile voyage to this port, the new C.P.R. steamer Princess Alice yesterday left the builders' yards at Newcastle-on-Tyne for Victoria, B.C.

Mrs. Joseph Stroud, View Street, has returned home after an extended trip to England and the continent. Stephen Warren left yesterday on a trip to the Old Country. Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Slater, who have been visiting in the east, returned home yesterday.

AUTO PRODUCTION LOWER

Ottawa, Sept. 23. (Canadian Press). — The Dominion bureau of statistics today reported a considerable decline in August automobile production compared with that of a year before.

A total of 4,690 units was produced in August compared with 7,692 in August, 1935. Of these, 3,051 passenger vehicles compared with 5,534 and 1,639 commercial cars and trucks with 2,168.

During the month 448 cars and trucks were imported into the country and 3,449 were exported.

News of Clubwomen

St. Andrew's W.M.S.—The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held on Monday afternoon in the lecture room of the church. Mrs. Wm. Ellis, president, in the chair. The meeting opened with praise and Scripture reading, and Mrs. R. A. Brown led in prayer. Mrs. H. Warren, welcome and welfare secretary, reported making several calls on visitors and newcomers to Victoria. Mrs. M. R. Fuller reported purchases made for clothing an Indian youth. This work had been carried out most satisfactorily. Mrs. Brown, Glad Tidings secretary, gave an encouraging report on the magazine. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were approved. It was decided to hold the usual thank offering meeting on the regular monthly meeting date, October 19, and a committee was appointed to make all arrangements. Mrs. Wm. Ellis gave a report of the Home Helpers. An excellent report of the assembly meetings in Toronto, was given by Mrs. M. R. Fuller, the delegate. Mrs. L. A. Fallow, was accompanist at the piano.

Baptist Women's Union—The Women's Union, First Baptist Church, held their regular monthly meeting on Monday evening with Mrs. A. Elger, president, in the chair. A pageant depicting the beginning of the Women's Missionary Union was much enjoyed. Mrs. G. Bishop gave the introduction, and those taking part were Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Galbraith, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Davey, Mrs. Ebert, Miss Phillimore, Mrs. Holm, Miss J. Reynolds and Mrs. Kyle. Mrs. C. C. Reynoldson gave the devotional message. The speaker for the evening was Dr. Zella Clarke, who has served thirty years as a medical missionary in India. Speaking on the political life of India, as well as glimpses of her medical work, her lecture was very interesting. Rev. F. W. McKinnon pronounced the benediction.

Conservative Women—The annual meeting of the Victoria Women's Conservative Association will be held in the Association Rooms, Campbell Building, on Thursday evening, October 2, at 8 o'clock. Members wishing to communicate with the nominating committee may do so by telephoning Mrs. G. W. Edgar, Mrs. J. Lamore or Mrs. H. Higgins.

Centennial Guild—The Women's Guild of Centennial United Church will hold their autumn tea in the schoolroom on Friday, September 25, from 3 to 5 o'clock. There will be special music and Mrs. Maude Hammond will give an address. Proceeds in aid of the maize fund.

Enchanted By Victoria's Gardens

Former Social Editor Returns For Brief Visit To City

Enchanted by the beauty of Victoria and its prolific flowers, which, in her opinion, rival the gardens in Europe and Great Britain, Mrs. E. M. Hood of Claremont, B.C., is renewing old acquaintances in this city.

As Miss Margaret Evans, she was the first social editor of The Daily Times, occupying that position when the paper was published in its former establishment on Broad Street, and has returned here at intervals of a few years for brief visits.

Mrs. Hood is on her way home after spending the last three months in Europe and Great Britain, visiting in Norway and Sweden, and spending some time in Scotland, where she toured the Highlands, and in England.

After an absence of some years from Victoria, she is struck anew by its beauty and the wealth of its flowers, and is much impressed by the gardens at the Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel. During her brief stay, Mrs. Hood has taken a number of pictures here which she intends making into slides for lecture purposes in California. She will leave tonight for her home in Claremont.

Queen Mary has made Brian William Frank Roberts, two and a half years old, her protegee in presenting him for admission to the Royal Infant Orphanage at Wansted, London. Brian's sister, Diana, who clings to him so protectively, also is going to the orphanage. The prize-winners were a merchant marine officer whose death followed shortly after their mother's.

W.M.S. Reports Busy Season

The quarterly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the First United Church was held Monday afternoon with the president, Mrs. A. Chisholm, in the chair, while the devotional was conducted by Mrs. D. Smith.

The quarterly reports were received, the strangers' secretary reporting seventy-eight calls made on the sick and strangers. The literature secretary requested that used magazines be brought to the October meeting, while renewals for the Missionary Monthly will be received by Mrs. Craig at the October meeting also. Treasurer's report was received, also supplies for hospitals.

The corresponding secretary was asked to convey the expressions of sympathy voiced by the president to the bereaved family of a former member.

Mrs. E. Lang, pianist, was welcomed back after a lengthy illness. A solo, "Go-Bury-Try-Sorrow," sung by Mrs. R. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Lang, was much appreciated.

Assistance requesting household necessities for a missionary and his wife in a new field was received favorably.

Mrs. J. McCallum gave a very interesting and instructive talk on a portion of the study book, "The New Africa," written by Dr. Donald Fraser. The meeting closed with a hymn and the misprun benediction.

Visiting On Mainland

Mrs. P. A. C. Cowland of Victoria, who has been much entertained in Vancouver where she has been the guest of Miss Sheila Russell for the last ten days.

Society

Mrs. P. A. Crump, Beach Drive, has returned to her home here from Vancouver where she has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ross.

Mrs. E. G. Bonwell, 1218 Hillside Avenue, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Doris Bonwell, has returned home after a holiday trip to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Denis Barrsclough (nee Green), who returned to Victoria recently after spending their honeymoon on the mainland, have taken up their residence on Lansdowne Road, The Uplands.

Mrs. Arthur Eyles of Honolulu, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. A. Turner, Heron Street, will leave next week for San Francisco to visit before returning to her home in the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. Harold M. Hare, who has been spending the summer vacation with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. Hare, The Uplands, left yesterday afternoon for Portland to resume his studies at the North Pacific Dental College.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Ellis of Vancouver and their two children, who are visiting at Shawnaigan Lake, will come down to Victoria on Friday to spend a couple of days with Mrs. Ellis's mother, Mrs. W. L. Clay, Linden Avenue, before returning to their home on the mainland.

Mrs. P. M. Barr and her two children, Larry and Allison, who have been spending the summer here with Mrs. Barr's mother, Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw, have gone over to Vancouver to join Dr. Barr who has come up from Berkeley, California, to join the staff of the University of British Columbia for the next few months.

Twelve tables of progressive five hundred were in play at the Victoria West Liberal Social Club party yesterday evening. The prize-winners were: First lady, Miss Freda Hasenfratz; second, Mrs. T. Larson; first gentleman, Mr. C. Kerr; second, Mr. R. E. McGregor; special prizes, Mrs. Bremner and Mr. G. Brown, while the mystery box was won by Miss Mutch.

Mrs. A. Hodgkinson and her daughter, Mrs. W. Parlee were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Madeline Brown, whose marriage will take place this month. The gifts were presented in a pretty decorated box. The prize-winners being: Miss Madeline Brown and Mrs. W. Yeaman Jr., after which supper was served. The table decorations were carried out in pink and white, with a miniature bride and her attendants. The invited guests were: Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. H. Brown, Mrs. Longley, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. R. Baxter, Mrs. Haines, Mrs. J. Yeaman, Mrs. W. Yeaman Jr., and Mrs. Huxley, and the Misses Madeline Brown, Violet Brown, Pearl Chisholm, Marjorie Longley and Hazel Haines.

Two Seattle engagements of much interest here include that of Mr. Russell Bordeaux, son of Mrs. Thos. Bordeaux, to Cathryn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor I. Hahn, of Skagway, Alaska; and that of Kathleen Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gillespie, to Mr. Ralph Williamson Krowe, son of Mr. Albert E. Welke, of Seattle. The Gillespie-Hahn wedding will take place October 14, in Skagway, at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will make their home in Olympia, Wash. Miss Hahn, who has been making her home in Seattle for several years, is a graduate of the University of Washington. The Krowe-Gillespie wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, October 17. Miss Roberta Gillespie, Mrs. Burke Barker and Miss Loyce McMillan will be her attendants.

Local Guests At Alberni Nuptials

Miss Janet Strain To Marry Tonight
Mr. Thos. R. Patterson

A wedding of interest in Victoria and the Alberni will be solemnized this evening at Port Alberni United Church at 7 o'clock, when Rev. A. McLean will unite in marriage Janet Agnes, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Strain of Port Alberni, and Thomas Reginald, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Patterson of Alberni. Against a background of autumn-tinted foliage, asters and zinnias, the ceremony will be performed, with Mrs. J. B. Wood at the organ, and Mr. Terence Patterson, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. William Strain, brother of the bride, acting as witnesses. Mr. Kenneth Patterson will support his brother as best man.

IN ICE-WHITE TAFFETA
Given in marriage by her father, the bride will wear a gown of ice-white taffeta, in Grecian design with long, oval train, square neckline and long sleeves. Her silk net veil held in position with orange blossom, will follow the Grecian line, short in length at back, and covering the face, and she will carry a bouquet of tea roses and ferns.

Mrs. Ernest Good of Nanaimo will be matron of honor wearing ivory suede lace and wide brimmed white hat and a bouquet of Darwin roses. Miss Frances Strain, sister of the bride, and Miss Kathleen Wood will be the bridesmaids, the former wearing a shirred frock of turquoise blue georgette with wide bishop sleeves in tight wrist bands. Miss Wood's gown will be of deep coral pink georgette in similar design. Both will wear hair coronets of white asters, and carry muffs of white asters. During the signing of the register, Mr. David Galliard will sing "Oh Promise Me."

Following the service, a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents, where, against a trellised background festooned with marigolds, chrysanthemums, and carnations, the young couple will receive congratulations, with Mrs. Strain and Mrs. Patterson, mothers of the principals. Mrs. Strain will wear Chantilly silk lace in mulberry tones with diamond clasp and buttons. Bridesmaid roses will form her corsage bouquet and she will wear a turban hat in velvet harmonizing with her gown. Mrs. Patterson, mother of the bridegroom, has chosen rust velvet with cowl neckline and long sleeves.

A unique wedding-cake of Maltese cross design will centre the bride's table, flanked with lighted tapers in wide brim crystal sconces, wreathed in scarlet geraniums.

When Mr. and Mrs. Patterson leave later for their wedding trip to Victoria en route to Portland, the bride will wear a tailored suit of navy gabardine with raised stitching revealing waistcoat of white suede cloth and sailor hat of navy accessories. On their return, they will make their home at Fourth Avenue, Port Alberni. Guests from Victoria will include Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Fairbairn of Belmont Avenue, uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Mackay of Poul Bay Road, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Janet Strain of 1430 Walnut Street, grandmother of the bride. Other out-of-town guests will include Mrs. Howard Hanson and Miss Margaret Wattie of Abbotsford, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin of Cymon.

Weddings

MACDONALD-FORMAN
Canadian Press
Halifax, Sept. 23.—Miss Helen Tremaine Forman, daughter of James H. Forman and the late Mrs. Forman of Terrace Avenue, Victoria, and Capt. Gordon MacDonald of the Royal Canadian Artillery, were married at Kings College Chapel today. Rev. Gerald Bullock officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Captain and Mrs. MacDonald will reside in Halifax.

There were no attendants at the wedding.

The bride wore a tailored-suit of light blue trimmed with dark fur, dark brown accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. After a reception the couple left on a short trip.

Mark Golden Wedding
Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 23.—Mass, sung by their nephew, Rev. Donald Kerr of Cornwall, Ont., was attended today by Mr. and Mrs. D. A. McDonald in celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Their nine children include Rev. Sister A. Agnita of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Vancouver.

MEDIAVAL STYLES AT WEDDING
London (Canadian Press)—Bridesmaids' dresses at a fashionable September wedding were of cream moire cut on medieval lines and accented with crimson rope girdles. Little flat caps of crimson roses matched the bouquets.

Metropolitan W.M.S. Rally
Rev. E. F. Church was the speaker at the September rally meeting of the Metropolitan W.M.S., held in the schoolroom on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when a good attendance was recorded. The opening exercises were conducted by the president, Miss G. Baker, Mrs. J. T. Taylor, corresponding secretary, reported and Mrs. W. Ozard brought the treasurer's report.

Mrs. W. E. Harper reported seventy-nine calls made on sick and strangers. Mrs. F. T. Cliff suggested that each W.M.S. member be responsible for the visiting of at least one shut-in. Miss M. Harte gave the associate helpers' report, and Mrs. O. R. Booth, supply secretary, asked that supplies, infants' wear, particularly, be sent in by the first of October. Mrs. R. Pettigrew announced that the time had come for the renewal of subscriptions for The Missionary Monthly, and also made a request for used stamps. The president called for heralds and interesting letters were read by Mrs. W. L. Smith and Mrs. J. E. Runions.

An inspiring talk on "Christian Stewardship" was given by Mrs. E. Akhurst. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. G. Willerton, and Mrs. R. Pettigrew offered prayer. Rev. E. F. Church commended the zeal of the members of the W.M.S. and the glorious vision they had of the nations of the world coming into the kingdom.

Then Mr. Church talked for a little while of his trip up the west coast of Vancouver Island this summer by mission boat. Of these boats the United Church possesses nine, and people are visited in this way who are otherwise inaccessible.

Of visits paid to logging camps and isolated shacks of lives even more isolated, of services held, Mr. Church talked, reminding his listeners that this great work was made possible through their efforts and sacrifice.

Miss Baker thanked Mr. Church for his very interesting address, after which Mrs. A. Adams sang delightfully, "God Will Take Care of You."

The meeting closed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. J. Hale.

Pound Party At W.C.T.U. Home
The board of directors of the W.C.T.U. Home are hoping for a generous response to the annual pound party to be held in the Home, 124 Street, tomorrow afternoon. Afternoon tea will be served and an opportunity given friends to inspect the Home.

Beaux-Arts To Meet Tonight
Tonight at 8:15 o'clock in their clubrooms at the Crystal Gardens, the Beaux-Arts will hold the first meeting of their winter schedule. A very fine programme has been arranged, which includes an amusing one-act play, musical programme, etc., to be followed by dancing and refreshments. Any visitors who are thinking of becoming members will be welcome.

Old Faces to Be Things of Past
Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 23.—The day is fast approaching. In the opinion of Miss Dorothy Coulter, when signs of age in personal appearance will be regarded as "pure carelessness."

The modern sciences of beauty culture and plastic surgery are enabling men and women to keep the appearance of age at bay, the New York beauty authority told the Eastern Canada Hairdressers' Convention last night.

She pictured the present dream of the beauty expert: the worried faces in all classes of life transformed into the smooth contours of youth; unattractive noses modeled into flawless Grecian lines; tell-tale gray hairs kept away indefinitely.

Modern methods of hair tinting, Miss Coulter said, make the operation so subtle the use of a tint could not be detected. In addition, she claimed, the use of new tints actually benefited the hair.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

A doctor writes in this column very helpful and that she is greatly disturbed by a problem which she has not seen frequently discussed.

It seems she has a son who is short for his age and weight. The father is six feet tall; the mother five feet, four and a half inches tall.

Now all the neighbor children are three to four inches taller than this boy, and he is becoming self-conscious about it. Dr. M. Fishben. The mother thinks maybe his thyroid is at fault.

I have frequently pointed out that the height and weight of children vary a good deal according to the races from which they spring. Heights vary also in various classes in the community. New-born children among the well-to-do usually are taller and heavier than those of the poor.

College students in general are slightly taller and weigh more than do laborers as a class. This is believed to be due to the fact that they eat better and live under better conditions of hygiene.

Growth of the child in length varies at different periods. At birth a baby is about twenty inches long. The length increases 50 per cent in the first year, and triples by the fourth year. When grown, the person is about three and a half times the height at birth if nothing has interfered with growth in length.

Short children usually become short adults and tall children usually become tall adults. Tall children grow rapidly during the period of ten to eleven years of age, while short children do not make this spurt until twelve or thirteen years of age.

Girls who are big for their age are likely to slow up in their rate of growth one or two years earlier than girls who are small for their age.

Most parents fail to watch carefully the rate of growth of their children. For that reason changes will occur which the parents will fail to recognize. The X-ray pictures will show that during severe periods of illness growth in the long bones temporarily stops.

Sometimes glands which affect growth cease to function satisfactorily. This definitely will affect the height of the child. For instance, a failure of the pituitary gland to function during the first three years of life will have a much greater effect on the size of the person than a beginning failure of this function in the thirteenth or fourteenth year of life.

This is simply because one-half the normal height of the individual is acquired during the first three years of his life.

Parents should measure the height and weight of their children at regular intervals so they will know whether the child is growing steadily in height and weight, as it should if it is a normal child. If, for any reason, this does not seem to take place, a competent doctor should be consulted as soon as possible.

Iodine socks from England, recommended to sufferers from colds, corns, gout and other troubles have been investigated by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and labeled with "unwarranted therapeutic claims."

November 6 Date Of Annual Function At Hotel

The committee which will handle this year's ball of the Victoria City Police Mutual Benefit Association, to be held on November 6 in the Empress Hotel, has been named and plans are now proceeding to make the affair one of the highlights of the winter season.

Chief Heatley is honorary chairman of the committee, other members being: Henry F. Jarvis, chairman and secretary; David Donaldson, treasurer; James E. Brown, convener of refreshments; and Stanley Holmes, convener of decorations.

William Tickle's twelve-piece orchestra will supply the music and supper will be served at 11 o'clock.

The ball will be staged under the patronage of the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber, Premier and Mrs. Pattullo, and the city police commissioners.

Count Asks For Alimony

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Sept. 23.—In a cross-complaint for divorce on file yesterday, Rudolf von Steffens, sixty-seven, Austrian count and commercial artist, asked that his wealthy wife be required to pay him separate maintenance the rest of his life.

The petition asked she be ordered to pay "such sums of money as, in the opinion of the court, are reasonably necessary to support him in the style and station to which he has been accustomed."

At a recent hearing, the count lost his petition for temporary alimony pending trial of his wife's divorce suit.

Bride Guarded

As a result of kidnap scares in the neighborhood, police guarded the wedding of the daughter of the late U.S. vice-president Charles G. Dawes during the wedding of his adopted daughter, Virginia, twenty-two, to Richard Thompson Craig, twenty-four, of Evansville, Ind., at the home of the bride's parents, which took place at 10 p.m.

Gold Fish Bait Divorce Issue

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 23.—The divorce suit of Mrs. Edith J. Longo, nineteen, of West Medford, against her husband, Paul, who, she testified, used her pet goldfish for bait, continued today in Middlesex probate court.

"I had three goldfish," she testified yesterday. "They were pets and I had a name for each of them. He took them and went fishing in the pond back of our house."

ON COOKING LAMB

Ines E. Wilson, noted home economist, recently listed the following "hints to housewives" on cooking lamb:

"Do not remove the 'fell,' the thin papery substance which covers the outside of lamb, from the leg, but remove it from chops. Always serve lamb very hot on very hot plates, or quite cold, but never lukewarm. To make a good gravy with roast lamb, use milk as the liquid. A little roque-

We won't wed Club Is Done

Associated Press
Hollywood, Sept. 23.—Dan Cupid's arrows have made short work of Hollywood's "We Won't Wed" Club, organized by a group of film actresses who vowed not to marry until they had achieved success in pictures.

"I'm still the president," Olivia de Havilland said today, "but there aren't any other members."

Some sixteen of the younger players got together last spring and swore a mighty oath against matrimony. They were convinced marriage and a career were incompatible, and determined to eschew the one until they had become stars—so knew they weren't going to be.

Today, two of the girls are married. Most of the others are in varying stages of engagement, and all but one of the rest have "steady company."

"I suppose we were all sincere at the time," President de Havilland said, but I seem to be the only one who still feels that way. Personally, I get my romantic thrills vicariously from love-scenes in the picture I play."

Anne Sheridan and Ann Nagel are married to Edward Norris and Ross Alexander, respectively.

Patricia Ellis, who was sergeant-at-arms in the "We Don't Wed" Club and delegated to administer physical punishment to erring sisters, is usually seen with actor Fred Keating. She insists, however, "he's just an old friend of the family."

Rosalind Marquis is the steady company of Phil Kellogg, wealthy Pasadena. Joe Travis divides her time equally between Craig Reynolds and Dick Purcell. Marie Wilson's marriage to director Nick Grinde is expected soon.

Princely Suitor

Descendant of an ancient German noble family, Prince Bernhard zur Lippe-Biesterfeld (above) is likely to be the next Prince Consort of Holland. His engagement to Princess Juliana, heiress to the throne, was announced at The Hague recently.

fort cheese spread over the top side of a lamb chop after turning in broiling, adds a tantalizing piquancy to the taste. Fresh lamb, either roasted or chops, should not be over-cooked; for chops, a delicate pink color, and for roasts, just this side of well-done."

MME. FAHEY TO GIVE RECITAL

Madame Lugrin Fahey, who will appear in recital tomorrow night at the Empire Theatre, while in England last year sang in the lovely St. George's Chapel at Windsor Castle, and the old Temple Church, Temple Bar.

In Vancouver this summer she was guest artist at the banquet given in honor of Lady Vincent, and also the soloist at a luncheon for Sir Neville and Lady Beatrice Wilkinson.

Victorians will remember her as a former resident and popular concert artist, her beautiful voice being freely used in the interests of many patriotic and philanthropic causes during the war years and the succeeding period.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

IF YOUR CHILD DAY DREAMS, IT'S A SIGN HE IS UNHAPPY

"What on earth makes him act that way?" is the mother's cry when she sees her son sitting motionless, a sock half on, mooning and unconscious of the world about him. Why does he want to sit in the corner staring into space, or sit in school oblivious of the life around him?

How shall one deal with the day dreamer? First of all try to determine why he has had to withdraw himself from active participation in the child's world. Is he day dreaming because he is really lazy, or only because he is underfed, and therefore listless and without energy?

WHY THE DREAMS

Is he day dreaming because only in his imaginative fancies can he be the powerful, aggressive, successful individual he longs to be?

Is he day dreaming about a family who will appreciate him? Perhaps in his own family there is a younger, or an older child who is garnering all the parental attention. In his day dreams, though, it is he over whom everyone raves, who is talented and clever and a sparkling conversationalist.

HE NEEDS SUCCESS

Obviously it would be folly to open his mouth, for the halting words, his awkward acts and half baked capacities show him up to himself. The day dreamer is fearful of attempting any project because he would know then, for sure, that his day dreams were silly.

Try to understand the day dreaming child. He needs to enjoy success at home, success at school and with his companions. In order to accomplish this the parent must change her attitude and praise when she can instead of criticizing and blaming.

DREAMER IS UNHAPPY

Perhaps his school should be changed so that he can start over again with new comrades. The day dreaming child is unhappy in his present environment and is choosing one of his own making.

We have to find some way to make his own world a happier and more successful one for him.

Day dreamers are poky. We have a leaflet, "Help For the Picky Child," which may interest the mother. Send a self-addressed, 3-cent stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine Department of this newspaper requesting the leaflet by title.

Baby Has Rare Operation; Lives

Chicago Parents Gave Consent After First Disagreeing

Associated Press
Chicago, Sept. 23.—Blue-eyed baby Tafel, oblivious to the tumult he had caused during his six days of life, rested today in a hospital holding what physicians termed an even chance to survive an operation designed to save him from death by starvation.

The operation to correct an intestinal malformation—a "botomless colon"—was performed after a dramatic agreement between the mother, Eva, twenty-two, and his father, Ullian, twenty-four, a garage mechanic.

Until late yesterday Tafel, fearing Ullian Jr. faced a life of invalidism in the event of his survival, urged a "merciful" death, while the mother pleaded for the child's life regardless of consequences.

After conferring with friends and his spiritual adviser, Tafel changed his decision. The appearance at the hospital of Richard Lefler, a healthy four-year-old boy who had successfully undergone an identical operation, was the clinching argument.

FED WITH DROPPER

Today baby Tafel was fed at frequent intervals with an eye-dropper. Attendants said he had come through the operation in good condition.

Dr. Lewis K. Eastman, who performed the seventeen-minute operation with four assisting surgeons, gave the baby "fifty-fifty" chance to survive. Certain death from starvation faced the infant prior to the operation.

Prelate Tells Of Early Days

Archbishop Matheson Pays Tribute To Red River Pioneers

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Sept. 23.—Sixty years ago when furs could be had hereabouts "for a song" or maybe the mere asking, fur coats were a rarity, although "fineries" sold well, is the revelation of Archbishop Matheson in an article in The Free Press. He recalls he was quite a well-grown boy before he saw the "curiosity" of a buffalo fur coat. It seemed to make the wearer "look like the side of a house."

The venerable clergyman remarks:

"When I look at old photographs in my possession of the women and maidens in those early days, and compare them with pictures appearing in the British press of 'early Victorian' women and girls, I am conscious of a very striking correspondence between them, indicating that even in this far-off and isolated land femininity soon became well up to the times. But I can testify that the women of the Red River, and the girls of the Red River, possessed a character and quality which was of a high order, even that which was 'corruptible,' the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which in the sight of God was of great price."

Concerning the early trading in the settlement, the archbishop writes:

FURS WERE CHEAP

"While buffalo robes could be bought at singularly low prices, and beaver skins, and all other furs such as otter, rat, mink, were comparatively cheap, their use for garments was comparatively rare until white people from the east came among us in 1870, and revealed to us that Manitoba was not a tropical country. When, as a young clergyman in the early '70s, I decided to don a beaver coat, I purchased the skins for 50c each, and when I furnished my sleigh with first class buffalo robes I had my choice of the latter from among 2,000 skins in Boyd's store at eight, ten and twelve shillings each, according to their size and color."

"An event in the early history of the settlement which accelerated interest in women's dress was the arrival of John Higgins with a supply of decorative accessories to women's attire which were unknown, and certainly not available previously. These consisted of crinolines, hats, bonnets, dress material of very inviting texture and color, hair nets and fancy shawls."

When I was a very young boy on my way to Kildonan from school at Midland, I remember seeing a man with a resonant voice, standing up in a wagonette in front of the home of a prominent settler, surrounded by a flock of men and women, holding up to view and designating attractively the dress goods which he was offering for sale.

SPENT POCKET-MONEY

"Though it is a long time ago, I vividly recall one of his services when describing a certain piece of dress goods, as he shouted, 'It wears well, washes well and is winning in appearance'—thus using an alliteration of the word 'well'—and I remember the man's cleverness. I spent all the pocket-money I had with me in purchasing certain articles for my foster-mother, which she wore with great pride on the following Sunday at church."

W.B.A. Banquet For Visitors

An enjoyable evening was spent on Monday in the A.O.P. Hall when the officers and members of Queen Alexandra Review No. 1 W.B.A. entertained Cheminus Review No. 19 at a banquet and social evening. Nineteen members from Cheminus were present, together with many local members.

Mrs. Jean Bowden, convener, with a small committee, had arranged an excellent repast at 6:30 o'clock in the dining-room of the hall. The tables were artistically decorated with late summer flowers.

Mrs. Minnie A. Ritchie, president of the Victoria review, graciously welcomed the visitors, with Mrs. Florence Underwood, president from Cheminus, responding suitably.

Mrs. Minnie A. Ritchie presided over the short business period at which time a small sum was voted for the Women's Institute of Victoria in aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay.

Greetings from Cheminus were brought by the president, Mrs. F. Underwood, past-president, Mrs. Murray, the financial secretary, Mrs. J. Russell Robinson, and the transportation secretary, Mrs. J. Millman.

The evening was brought to a close by playing numerous amusing games. Light refreshments being served, the games were won by Mrs. Cheriton, Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. O. Wark and Miss Gladys Cook of Cheminus and Mrs. J. Bowden of Victoria.

Rare Childbirth Is Successful

Associated Press
Newark, N.J., Sept. 23.—A perfectly-formed baby girl, removed from her mother's abdominal cavity by her physicians in a rare form of childbirth, was reported "doing fine" in an incubator at Columbus Hospital today.

Seven other doctors stood by ready to help if needed, during the hour-and-a-half operation on Mrs. Marie Guarino, twenty-eight, of Newark.

The mother, who received three blood transfusions during the operation, was reprieved in good condition. It is her first child.

The child, named Janice, weighed five pounds and fourteen ounces at birth, September 14, and will be kept in the incubator until her weight is sufficiently increased.

X-rays, the doctors said, revealed the baby had developed entirely in the abdominal cavity with its position crosswise. The mother's appendix had to be removed before a cesaria operation was performed.

YOUNG DRIVER SENT TO TRIAL

Herbert Osgood Committed On Esquimalt Manslaughter Charge

Herbert Osgood was committed for trial by Magistrate Henry Hall in the Esquimalt Police Court this morning on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the fatal accident on Esquimalt Road on September 5 in which Eugene (Gene) Kohn met death.

The committal was delayed until this morning after final evidence in the preliminary hearing was taken yesterday afternoon.

H. W. Davey appeared for the defence and G. H. Sedger conducted the prosecution.

The prosecution yesterday called James Rutherford of the Tibbitts Garage, as a mechanical expert, and Ernest Stringer, Pembroke Street, an acquaintance of the accused.

Mr. Rutherford was asked questions concerning the actions of a car under certain conditions, which were submitted to him by Mr. Sedger. A car such as the accused was driving, travelling at thirty miles an hour, would require forty feet to stop, he said. He did not believe, after examination of the tires and castings, that there had been a blowout at the time of the crash.

Ernest Stringer testified that he had visited four Esquimalt beer parlors with the accused on the night of the accident. With other friends they had visited the Half Way House, Tudor House, Esquimalt Hotel and George Hotel. He said they had about eight glasses each. He left the accused about 12:30 o'clock.

To Mr. Davey witness said Osgood was not drunk when he left him.

Liberal Head Talks Defence

Victoria's Position in Scheme; Relief Funds Should Have Been Used

If the money spent on unemployment relief during the last six years had been used in building defences, Canada now would have key fortifications well advanced, H. M. McGivern, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, declared at a meeting of Ward Two Liberals last night.

Mr. McGivern pointed out that many millions of dollars had been spent by the Bennett administration without any concrete results from the use of unemployed labor. This could well have been used in constructing permanent defences.

In this connection he referred to the recent statement of Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, that the Victoria and Halifax were the key points in Canada's defence.

Mr. McGivern said modern long range bombers, possibly operating from Greenland or the Bering Sea, could attack at these points. These machines have a range of 2,400 miles with a ton of bombs, and this range is being increased each year.

Mr. McGivern praised the Ottawa government for closing the relief camps and added that once the coming winter is over the unemployment situation would return to normal. At all times in Canada there was seasonal unemployment, he pointed out.

Leggers went out at some periods, harvesters at others.

"Dealing with provincial finances," he paid tribute to the work of Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance.

"If the Liberal government had been in power during the Toimie regime,

About 200 clerical alumni associates of the college are attending the four-day reunion.

Two Executed In New Brunswick

Dorchester, N.B., Sept. 23.—Arthur and Daniel Bannister were executed by hanging here shortly after 2 o'clock this morning for the murder last January of thirty-year-old Philip Lake at isolated Pacific Junction.

Before darkness closed over the Dorchester jail yesterday evening the brothers had good-bye to their father and two sisters, Frances, fifteen, and Marie, thirteen. Both brothers embraced the fifteen-year-old Frances, who faces a charge of abducting Luke's infant child, being on remand till Friday.

Arthur, nineteen, and Daniel, twenty, paid the supreme penalty for the slaying of Lake in his lonely squatter's cabin and the death of his common law wife and baby son, a tragedy the crown claimed grew out of their mother's plan for an extortion plot.

A person present at the execution said he heard Daniel murmur: "Innocent, and paying for somebody else's crime."

CAR INCREASE IS MAINTAINED

Four Thousand More Cars Operating This Year on B.C. Roads Than in 1935

The proportional increase in motor vehicle registrations continued during August to maintain the general increase which has been evident in all preceding months of this year. It was indicated by figures released today at the Parliament Buildings.

To the end of August there was an increase of 4,505 in the number of passenger cars on British Columbia roads, while the commercial vehicles in operation increased by 2,187, to make an aggregate increase of 6,692 for passenger and commercial cars.

The total of passenger cars in operation at the end of last month was 78,019, compared with 73,514 for the same period last year. The commercial car total was 18,683 for this year and 16,496 for last year.

In August this year there were 2,138 licences issued for passenger machines, including 657 new registrations and 1,286 renewals. In August, 1935, the total issue was 2,048, including 588 new registrations and 1,439 renewals.

The issue for commercial vehicles last month totalled 597, of which number there were 193 new registrations, twenty-eight used registrations, and 369 renewals. Last year the month's total for commercial machines was 468, which included 162 new registrations and 278 renewals. There were no used car registrations in this period.

The Junior girls W. A. met on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. Reynolds, when instruction was given and fancy work done. In future the meetings will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. B. Deane-Freeman, Station Road.

Under the supervision of Scoutmaster D. B. Bullen, the Wolf Cubs tidied the church grounds following their weekly meeting on Friday afternoon.

The First Langford Scout troop enjoyed a short hike and corn feast on Friday night.

GANGES

A successful progressive whist drive and dance, organized by the pupils of the Salt Spring Island High School, for the purpose of raising money toward the annual school sports, took place at Ganges on Friday evening. There were twenty-nine tables in play. First prizes were won by Mrs. D. Pyrie and Cyril Beech, the second prizes by Mrs. E. Lumley and L. G. Mount. After refreshments, dancing was enjoyed to the music of a local orchestra. Miss Betty Morrison and Gordon Parsons were winners of the prize in the statue dance. Mrs. C. A. Goodrich and Bob Atkinson winning that for the spot-dance.

The monthly meetings of the Salt Spring Island W.A. were resumed on Friday afternoon. The members met at the home of Mrs. F. W. Paik, Ganges, with the president, Mrs. H. Moorhouse, in the chair. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $49.86. A lengthy discussion re holding a harvest supper this year was finally decided in the negative. Mrs. D. S. Harris left Ganges on Sunday for Cowichan on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Norie. She will later be a visitor in Victoria, where she will be the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Vivian Ramsay, for a week.

Mrs. Holroyd Paul, who was accompanied by Miss Shirley Wilson on a motoring trip to Bellingham, Wash., and other United States points, has returned to her home at Ganges Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Day returned to Ganges on Saturday after a short honeymoon spent in Vancouver and Seattle.

The christening ceremony for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Shove of Ganges, took place on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in St. Mark's Church, Rev. C. H. Popham officiating. The child received the names of Nona Diana. The godparents were Mrs. Desmond Crofton and Miss Denise Crofton. Mr. Peter Turner and Mr. Dick De Mille of Vancouver. The reception, which was held later at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shove, was jointly in honor of the christening ceremony and the thirty-third wedding anniversary of the grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Crofton, of Harbor House.

PENDER ISLAND

Joe Louis Scores Second Knockout In Comeback Campaign

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By Pete Salaway

THE MASTER MIND of the 1936 Murderers' Row in the New York Yankees, is a gentle-looking old soul who never played a game in the majors. Yet Joseph V. McCarthy has piloted pennant winners into the World Series from both National and American Leagues.

Any analysis of the success of the American League champion Yankees of 1936 would be incomplete without a look at the unique record of the rotund, red-faced skipper who swapped and patched—and produced a club comparable to the old Murderers' Row that included Babe Ruth.

Coming to the big top from Louisville, in the American Association, McCarthy was manager of the Chicago Cubs in 1926. That the smiling Irishman was a stern disciplinarian and wanted no loafing on the ball field was proved when he sold the great Grover Cleveland Alexander down the river. Three years after his major league debut, his Cubs met the Philadelphia Athletics in the World Series, but they lost to Connie Mack's Athletics, one game to four.

After Chicago cast him adrift in the 1930 campaign, McCarthy was signed by the Yankees as manager of the Ruth-paced Murderers' Row. In 1932 the Yankees finished on top of the American League and went on to sink the Cubs four games straight in the post-season classic.

That was Ruth's last stand in the World Series and it marked the beginning of the end for the old slapping Yankee ball club that won twelve straight World Series games—four from Pittsburgh in 1927, four from the St. Louis Cardinals in 1928 and, finally, the four from the Cubs just four years ago.

Credit for the few trades that re-established the Yankees in the tradition of Murderers' Row goes to McCarthy. He went to market for outfielders Joe DiMaggio and Jake Powell, and he bartered for pitchers Monte Pearson and Bump Hadley. Under McCarthy's subtle direction these cogs fitted into the Murderers' Row, adding both power at the plate and the needed bolstering along the defensive line.

McCarthy never believed the Yankees were out of the pennant race; he regards every baseball club he ever managed as a pennant contender. He holds that a good disposition plays a big part in baseball success and he sets the pace in this department himself, with a genial exterior, encasing a shrewd, stern baseball personality.

A dissatisfied ball player who won't hustle can't play for McCarthy. To his subsequent chagrin, Ben Chapman was dissatisfied with his lot—and McCarthy sent him to Washington in exchange for the hustling Powell.

McCarthy learned baseball on the sand lots of Philadelphia and was moved from the outfield to the infield while attending Niagara University. He played through various minor league campaigns and ended his active career at second base upon becoming manager of the Louisville Colonels in 1920. He piloted Louisville to its first American Association pennant in 1921 and his continued managerial success at Louisville got him the bid to manage the Cubs in 1928. The reason he didn't graduate from the minors as a player was that he was light on hitting—and the reason he has made good as a major manager is that he is long on baseball brains.

Both came on the 176-yard ninth of the Country Club course and were made on successive rounds. It was the first time the hole was ever aced.

Finishes Off Philadelphia Italian in Fifth Round; Shows Improvement

Fight Attracts Crowd of 40,407

By PAUL MICKELSON
Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—Steering his way with a sure left arm, Joe Louis has passed the second human milestone on the road back.

The Brown Bomber from Detroit, whose ring fortunes crashed before the beating right fist of Max Baer, fought three months ago as a stunned fight world gasped, simply breezed by his second objective at the Philadelphia Municipal Stadium last night by knocking out Al Ettore, home town pride, in the fifth round before a throng of 40,407 customers, who paid $210,117.25 in the till box to see the show.

Louis was expected to beat Ettore as he did the leg-weary Jack Sharkey a month ago. The result was no surprise and it didn't prove that Detroit negro was a "great" fighter. But the way he went about his job, his coolness under fire and the devastating left he threw, did convince the majority of unbelievers that "Big Joe" was getting ring smart faster than fast.

DODGES RIGHTS
As the barrel-chested Philadelphia south rushed at him, aiming a few of Schmeling's copyrighted rights at his jaw, Louis stepped back, took his time like a great ring master and then, seeing his chance, dug in.

ROUND ONE
Ettore came out slowly and rapped a left and right to Louis's head. The Brown Bomber stood his ground and belted him with a vicious left that shook Ettore. A hard right-floored Ettore, but he was up immediately with two counts. Louis backed him against the ropes and calmly measured him, but the blond Ettore wriggled out and fell on his back. Louis stepped forward and fell on his back. Louis stepped forward and fell on his back.

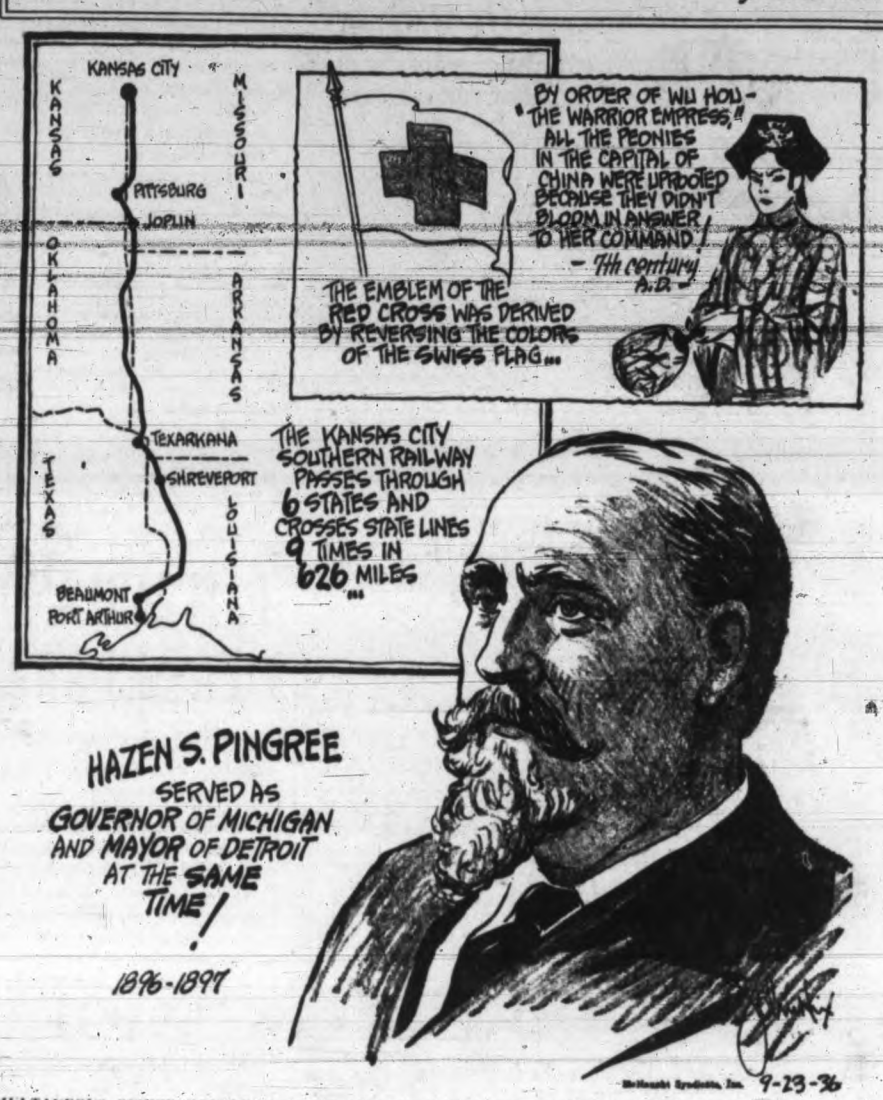

ROUND TWO
Louis, working very cautiously, landed two light lefts to Ettore's brow and took a hard right to the stomach. The Brown Bomber crowded in and fought a light left to the jaw and retaliated with a crisp right to Ettore's head. Louis made Ettore blink with two hard lefts. Ettore suddenly took the offensive again with a harmless windmill flurry to Louis's head, but Joe let him have it with both hands. Louis leaped in and shook the blond with a hard left. As the bell sounded, Ettore clipped him with a looping left. Louis's round.

ROUND THREE
Ettore came out of his corner head down and nailed Joe with a series of steaming lefts and rights to the head. The Brown Bomber kept prodding in, shooting relentless and precise rights to the head that took the wind out of Ettore's sails. Ettore caught Louis with two hard lefts to the head and the negro shook his head. A hard right to the nose halted Ettore's sudden attack, and they clinched in the center of the ring. They stood toe to toe for half a minute, struggling as hard as they could, with neither one achieving a distinct advantage. They were feinting haphazardly as the bell sounded. The round appeared even.

ROUND FOUR
Ettore landed a sharp left to Joe's jaw, and caught a hard right in return. Louis boxing faster, piled in and centered his attack on Ettore's body. Ettore caught Louis's body blow and likewise, Louis missed two terrific rights to the head and fell into a clinch. Louis caught Ettore flush on the jaw with a short right and the blond started to crumble. Joe backed him against the ropes and gave him a terrific beating around the ring. A hard left floored Ettore, but he was up at the count of nine. Eager (Turn to Page 12, Col. 4)

Longshots Win In Double Event

Babe Ruth Is Forgotten Man

Former Idol of the Baseball Followers Has Fallen Into Complete Obscurity This Season; Future In Game Is Even More Doubtful

By PAUL MICKELSON
New York, Sept. 23.—Babe Ruth has learned one of the bitterest and saddest truths of life and sport—that no man is indispensable.

For the first time in a quarter of a century, the greatest single drawing card in all baseball history was completely out of the picture this season, but his absence merely seemed to make the fickle fans' hearts grow fonder—for somebody else.

New York Giants Still Two Games Away From Ball Pennant

Leaders Beaten Twice As Cards Trim Cincinnati

Last-place Phillies Knock Over Leaders; Chicago Whips Pittsburgh

Detroit Still On Win Streak

It may be all over but the shouting as far as the New York Giants' fans are concerned, but they breathe a lot easier if their boys would do something mighty soon about getting rid of those pesky St. Louis Cardinals, who are hanging like leeches to their fading National League pennant hopes.

The Giants still hold a four and a half game lead over the gas house gang. They need only two victories or one triumph and a Cardinal defeat to clinch the pennant but things do not look so rosy following yesterday's happenings at Philadelphia and St. Louis.

Just when the Giants were all set to clinch the pennant by taking the Phillies twice, Jimmy Wilson's men rose in all their might, belied their last-place rating, and smote the league leaders in both games of a doubleheader, 11 to 7 and 6 to 2. At the same time the Cards trimmed Cincinnati Reds 6 to 3, while even the Chicago Cubs retained their mathematical chance to tie for the pennant by hitting the third-place hopes of the Pittsburgh Pirates with a 11 to 4 victory.

Only Carl Hubbell, slated to try for his sixteenth straight victory today, and Fred Fitzsimmons were not called on as Bill Terry sent six pitchers into the games in an effort to stop the Phils.

The Detroit Tigers turned in a pair of shutout victories over the St. Louis Browns, 12 to 0 and 14 to 0, to run their string of consecutive victories to nine and strengthen their hold on second place in the American League.

The other two contestants for runner-up honors—the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians—battled twelve innings to an 8 to 8 draw after Earl Averill had tied the score in the ninth with his twenty-seventh circuit drive.

The New York Yankees had no trouble beating the Philadelphia Athletics 10 to 3 although Pat Malone was touched for fifteen hits. Joe Casanova outpointed Rube Walberg as the Washington Senators whipped the Boston Red Sox 4 to 0. In the other National League encounters, the Boston Bees took two close ones from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 3 and 3 to 2.

NO UPSETS IN WOMEN'S GOLF

Several Good Matches Seen in Victoria Club Women's Championship

First round of match play in the women's club championship at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday saw all the favorites advance. Mrs. V. S. Godfrey, medalist and defending champion, turned back Mrs. A. K. Mitchell, 8 and 7.

Mrs. H. E. Patterson defeated Mrs. J. Macdonald 1 up and Mrs. B. R. Philbrick accounted for Mrs. J. H. Wilson, 3 and 2.

Results follow:
 Championship—First Round
 Mrs. Godfrey defeated Mrs. Arthur K. Mitchell, 8 and 7.
 Mrs. A. Watson defeated Mrs. L. O. Howard, 4 and 3.
 Mrs. W. Parry defeated Miss Fitzgibbon, 5 and 3.
 Miss P. Bagley defeated Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, 3 and 2.
 Mrs. H. E. Patterson defeated Mrs. J. Macdonald, 1 up.
 Mrs. H. N. Lay defeated Mrs. E. P. Gillespie, 1 up.
 Mrs. Sheffield defeated Miss Jean Campbell, 2 and 1.
 Mrs. Philbrick defeated Mrs. J. Harold Wilson, 3 and 2.
 Second Round—First Round
 Mrs. Roy Hadley, bye.
 Miss L. Bryden defeated Dr. Liden, 1 up.

A Dry Retort
 A business man advertised for a charwoman for office cleaning. He was somewhat faddy in his requirements, and one applicant whom he interviewed got a bit nettled.

"Are you a teetotaler?" was one of the questions he asked.

"Teetotaler?" she inquired. "Not me. It's a dry-cleaner you want, not a charwoman."

Fischer Crowned U.S. Champion

By overcoming a hurricane, a sprained ankle and the country's amateur ace, Johnny Fischer (right), University of Cincinnati Law student, rose to the golfing heights when he defeated Jack McLean, Glasgow, (left) in the finals of the United States amateur championship tournament at Garden City, L.I. Fischer holds the title trophy. Below, Fischer (indicated by arrow) makes the putt that tied the match on the thirty-sixth green, after which he won on the thirty-seventh. McLean sits on the sod, watching.

ALL OFFICERS ARE RETURNED

Last Year's Officials Re-elected By Victoria Badminton Club

Re-election of last year's officers took place at the annual meeting of the Victoria Badminton Club, held Monday evening with a good attendance.

Dr. Arthur Poyntz, popular in local sport circles, was returned as president. Others re-elected were: P. A. McQuade, vice-president; R. Simpson, secretary; R. H. Heywood, treasurer; Mrs. A. Poyntz, Miss H. Blankenbach, Frank Tyrell, Hugh Francis and Vernon Ridgway, executive committee.

The excellent attendance at the meeting points toward a bumper membership and a successful season. Play will commence October 1.

U.S. SENIORS GOLF WINNERS

Defeat British and Canadian Players in Close Struggle

Southampton, N.Y., Sept. 23.—The United States seniors team regained the silverware in the international triangular event at the national golf links of America yesterday when they nosed out the British seniors in a close finish. The Canadian team was an outdistanced third.

Leading the British side by a narrow margin of two and half points when the sixholes were completed Monday, the American team outscored the British by a point and a half in yesterday's singles to reclaim by four points the honors they last won at Apawamis in 1932.

At the finish the point score was: United States 24½, Great Britain 20½, and Canada 9.

The Canadian side also lost out to the straight-shooting Americans in their "side-match" for the Duke of Devonshire Trophy, put up by the former Governor-General of Canada for competition between seniors of the neighboring countries. The score for the cup was: United States 25 and Canada 13.

CANADIAN IS RANKED HIGH

Al McCoy Placed Second in Light Heavyweight Division of Ring Ratings

Houston, Texas, Sept. 23.—The National Boxing Association yesterday named Max Schmeling, former heavyweight boxing champion, as the leading contender for Champion James J. Braddock's crown. Joe Louis, the Detroit Brown Bomber, who lost to Schmeling in a recent fight, was rated next.

Al McCoy, handsome French-Canadian of Montreal, was named "crown prince" of the light-heavyweight realm, ruled by Duke John Henry Lewis.

Champions and the two leading contenders in each class were named as follows:
 Heavyweight—James J. Braddock, Max Schmeling, Joe Louis.
 Light-heavyweight—John Henry Lewis, Al McCoy, Joe Egan.
 Middleweight—Fred Steele, Ken Overlin, Marcel Thill.
 Welterweight—Barney Ross, Jack Carroll, Jack Portney.
 Featherweight—Pete Sarron, Freddie Miller, Henry Armstrong.
 Bantamweight—Stacy Escobar, Tony Morino, Baltasar Sanguinelli.
 Flyweight—Small Montana, Benny Lynch, Jimmy Warnock.

P. M'FARLAND PASSES AWAY

Former Lightweight Boxing Star Victim of Strange Illness

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 23.—Patrick (Packey) McFarland, member of the Illinois State Athletic Commission and ranked as one of the greatest lightweight boxers of all time, died at his home today. He was forty-eight years of age.

McFarland was attacked by a strange illness, believed by specialists to have been a streptococcal infection localized near the heart, about six weeks ago. For the last several days he had been in a coma. He was unconscious up to the time of his death.

At first McFarland was believed to be suffering from intestinal influenza, and later was examined for typhoid and Malta fever, but the tests were negative. He lost about fifty pounds during his illness.

"Packey" McFarland will be remembered by boxing fans of an older generation as one of the greatest boxers in the ring's history.

He was never beaten and only twice in his brilliant career was he knocked down—by Ray Bronson at New Orleans and by Cyclone Johnny Thompson at Kansas City—fights which McFarland always said were his hardest battles.

TREMBLOUS SPEED
 Product of Chicago's famous "Back o' the Yards" district, and of sturdy Irish stock, McFarland carried into this ring a lightning-fast, iron-speed and cleverness, made him a dominant figure of the lightweight and welterweight divisions from 1904 until 1915.

He never won the lightweight championship, even though he was recognized generally as the "uncrowned king" of the class. Doubt that he could make the lightweight limit—then 133 pounds—always hampered his chances at the title, and three times in which he was scheduled to meet champion Al Wolgast, the bouts fell through.

In England he met Freddie Welsh, the fight ending in a draw after twenty-five rounds of furious battling.

McFarland's most famous fights were his two with Welsh—the other ended in a draw in San Francisco—and his ten-round no-decision clash with Mike Gibbons in New York in 1915. Packey had come out of temporary retirement for the match. Many scribes believed McFarland had won the match, the last of his career.

McFarland carried a knockout punch and put away more than fifty opponents via that route; but he was mainly content to outclass his opponents and came through his long campaign without a mark to remind him of many furiously-fought tussles.

Junior Tennis Tourney Friday

Open to boys and girls under eighteen on January 1, the city hard court tennis championships will get under way on Friday on the courts of the Civil Service Tennis Club, Superior Street. Entries will close tomorrow evening and may be made at Hocking & Forbes's sporting goods store, Douglas Street.

NEGRO WINS BY DECISION

Midnight Bell Whips Billy Lee at Vancouver; Will Battle Wallace

Vancouver, Sept. 23.—Midnight Bell today held a decision over Billy Lee, full-blooded "Indian" from the Piute tribe of Nevada. The chocolate-colored Texan fared a split decision in a ten-rounder here last night for the right to meet Gordon Wallace, Vancouver, Canadian welterweight champion. Bell weighed 147, Lee 146.

For seven rounds they fought on fairly even terms, with Bell probably gaining a slight edge with superior boxing ability. In the eighth the Indian was felled by a hard overhand right, but was up without a count and managed to weather the barrage of leather which the negro threw at him.

Lee rushed from his corner in the ninth and punching furiously, strove desperately for a knockout, but the colored fighter fought it out on even terms and climaxed the fight by taking the tenth by a fair margin.

Easterners Hold Golf Spotlight

Heather Leslie, Winnipeg, Lone Western Entry Left in Canadian Women's Close Championship; Mrs. E. H. Gooderham Scores Great Victory

Pointe Claire, Que., Sept. 23.—Tapered down to the sixteens, play in the Canadian women's close golf championship became a survival of the fittest today. When the last putt drops home only four feminine shotmakers will remain to fight it out for the undented title, won last year by Mrs. Roy Horne, Calgary.

Presenting an all-star lineup, eight Ontarians apparently form the strongest group challenge for this golfing crown, for which only Canadians are eligible. Six Montrealers also swung into second round match play, along with one girl from western Canada and another from the Maritimes.

Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, medal winner and champion of her province, started off against Marie McNab, Montreal, while Ada Mackenzie, Toronto, five times a close queen, meets Audrey McLeod, Saint John, N.B., last hope for a Maritime victory.

The two other morning pairings brought together a quartette of Montrealers, among them the favored Mrs. A. B. Darling and Margery Kirkham. Mrs. Darling, recent conqueror of a classy field in the Canadian open, had Mrs. A. J. Wright as an opponent while red-headed Miss Kirkham, who just scraped by her first round match yesterday, played Margaret Lockhart.

Mrs. E. H. Gooderham, Toronto, provided the most spectacular finish yesterday with a birdie on the eighteenth hole for victory one up over Agnes Mountfield, Edmonton.

Western Canada lost four of its contingent of five qualifiers. As Heather Leslie remained in the hunt, Mrs. MacDonald-Winnipeg, bowed to Mrs. Eric Phillips, Toronto, K. Duff-Stuart, Vancouver, lost to Mrs. Leslie, and Mrs. H. W. Soper, Montreal, accounted for Kaye Farrell, Vancouver.

Final entries will be called for at the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football League meeting, to be held in the Y.M.C.A. Thursday, at 7.30 o'clock. Members of the sub-committee, managers and team representatives are asked to attend.

MINE CASE IS BEFORE COURT

Argument to the effect that miners engaged solely in taking coal from a mine could not secure application of mechanics' liens against a coal company's property, was advanced by S. S. Taylor, K.C., representing the appellant company in the case of Tony Pavich et al. vs. Tulameen Coal Mines Limited, et al., as that case continued before the Court of Appeal today.

Total claims by Pavich and ninety-seven others, against the company, amount to $8,764.72, being aggregate wages for the month of March. The appeal is made by the Tulameen Mines Limited et al., against the judgment of Judge Brown at Princeton.

At this morning's hearing, Mr. Taylor sought to establish the miners were engaged only in taking coal from the mine. He contended any bracing required as the miners worked could not be considered "development work on the mine," for which liens could be secured.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association will meet tonight in St. Paul's Parish rooms at 8 o'clock.

The public library will be closed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week while alterations are being made.

The Victoria Liberal Association will hold a five hundred party at Liberal headquarters tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Good prizes are being offered, and refreshments will be served.

The first of a series of winter social gatherings will be held this evening by Victoria Fraternal Order of Eagles in their clubrooms at 1319 Government Street. J. B. Graham, president, will preside, and the master of ceremonies will be S. Cawsey. All visiting brothers and members are asked to attend.

Visitors to Victoria last year who answered questionnaires stated they had made investments here totalling $40,150. Answers received to date from visitors this summer indicate that investments were from 50 to 60 per cent higher. Frank Olimpia of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau said this morning.

A week's remand was granted in the City Police Court this morning in the case of Joyce W. Collins, charged with driving to the common danger. Condition of Ronald Cruickshanks, who was seriously injured when Collins's car turned over, was reported slightly improved at the Jubilee Hospital, although he was reported not out of danger.

In order to give city residents keeping cows contrary to the cow by-law further opportunity to arrange for disposal of their animals, or time to move out of the city, the city health department will not take legal proceedings against those contravening the by-law until the beginning of next month. It was learned at the City Hall today.

Evan P. Robinson was arraigned before Magistrate Henry Hall in the City Police Court this morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining money by false pretences from Marjorie C. Breckenridge. He was remanded until tomorrow for sentence when C. L. Harrison, crown prosecutor, informed the court additional charges of a similar nature would be preferred against him.

A meeting of the Victoria centre of the St. John's Ambulance Association will be held in room 309 Union Bank Building, View Street, Thursday evening, October 1, at 8 o'clock. All interested in the work of the association are cordially invited to attend. Entries in first aid and home nursing should be forwarded to A. J. Dallin, 625 Niagara Street, without delay, as it is desirable to start classes immediately.

Commenting today on a complaint of Saanich relief men, voiced at the Ward Seven Liberal Association meeting Monday, that men engaged for highway jobs on the Malahat had no transportation to the work, provincial relief authorities declared today that a good camp had been established on the Malahat, by the contractors on the job where board could be obtained at a reasonable rate.

On Friday evening next, at 7.15 o'clock, Rowley's Boys' Band will be given an audition at its bandstand at 1501 Port Street, by Harold C. George, with a view to making records suitable for interested parties, distant or situated. There are still more instruments on hand for boys who wish to join, especially those who already play brass. The bandstand is again open to any boy wishing to learn.

Obituary

At H. RIDGMAN

The funeral of A. H. Ridgman, who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital last Monday, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in St. Barnabas Church. The remains will be forwarded to Seattle for cremation.

ROBERT RUTLEDGE

There passed away Monday night, Robert Rutledge, aged eighty-four years. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, Canon A. E. de L. Nunna will officiate and the remains will be laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

ANNIE BUTT

Mrs. Annie Butt, of 1028 Pandora Avenue, passed away this morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, aged sixty-seven years. She was a native of Newfoundland and had resided here for the last forty years. Mrs. Butt was the widow of George Butt and is survived by one daughter, Mrs. C. Paton, at Pown, B.C. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MARY ANN DAVY

Mrs. Mary Ann Davy of 825 Walker Avenue, a resident of Victoria for the last forty-five years, passed away this morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, aged seventy-seven years. She was born in Devonshire, England, and is survived by one son, Ernest H. Davy of Victoria, and two daughters, Mrs. R. Carstairs, Victoria, and Mrs. McGhee, Portland, Ore.

Funeral services will be held at Haywards B.C. Funeral chapel on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Robert Connell will officiate and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Delay Appeal On Soliciting

The County Court test appeal case covering soliciting by sightseeing bus drivers to passengers on incoming ships was adjourned in County Court yesterday to sometime in October. The appeal is in the nature of a test on the outcome of which will probably depend action in the police court over several other similar cases. Conviction in the test case was based upon the city by-law covering soliciting for patronage at the inner harbor.

ROAD TO OPEN NEW COUNTRY

J. K. Hodges, Back From Rockies, Tells of New Louise-Jasper Highway

A road which runs within a stone's throw of glaciers and along the actual flanks of mountains—the partially completed Lake Louise-Jasper highway—was described this morning by J. K. Hodges, manager of the Empress Hotel, who returned yesterday afternoon from spending a week at a meeting of Canadian Pacific hotel managers at Banff.

"The highway is opening up an entirely different type of country. It is going to be one of the outstanding trips in the mountains," said Mr. Hodges.

He mentioned the excellent quality of the road so far laid, some thirty-five miles at each end of the 160-mile route.

Mr. Hodges also spoke of the exceptional scenery, and the fact that the road is now open to the public.

The conference which Mr. Hodges attended was devoted principally to discussion of detail points in the business of the various hotels.

Mr. Hodges is shown in the above picture as a young man in England.

"My labors at a fish stall, at the tender age of ten years, were remunerated with a week-end supply of over-ferried fish. However, my ability to pencil the fish price cards was soon recognized by the hat and cap vendor across the way, so I left the fish store proprietor, who bawled bravely until the wintery winds cleared the air."

"It was at the age of fourteen that $1.50 per week induced me to start my career in a clothing store, an occupation I didn't like, I never have liked and never will."

"If I had my life to live over again, I'd take the line of least resistance and be a politician."

"Y" CLASSES FALL SEASON

Classes Open at Y.M.C.A. Under Coach Archie McKinnon

Under the coaching of Archie McKinnon, the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium classes opened the fall season yesterday with an attendance of about thirty at the first session of the young men's group and a correspondingly good turnout for the other scheduled classes.

Mr. McKinnon has a sufficiently large class in the young men's division for four basketball and volleyball teams to play in a Y.M.C.A. league during the season.

The junior swimming club will hold a workout tonight at 7 o'clock and the senior club at 8 o'clock to get in shape for a meet in the "Y" tank in the near future.

The senior gym corps will meet Friday at 7 o'clock when organization of a swimming leader group will be made. All committees of the gym, swimming and general physical groups are invited to attend the conference at the home of W. A. Jameson at Sooke on Sunday.

Poultry Experts Visiting Island

Dr. C. H. Weaver, animal pathologist with the Dominion animal health branch, and Prof. R. W. Zavitz, assistant chief of the poultry division of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, are on a visit to Vancouver Island to study control of poultry disease.

The two experts called on the provincial Department of Agriculture yesterday morning, visited L. F. Solly's farm at Westholme in the afternoon, and conferred with other local poultry men in the evening.

They recently attended a meeting of the Western Canada Hatcherymen in Edmonton, in which J. B. Munro, Deputy Provincial Minister of Agriculture, took part.

To kill every chick that has come in contact with an infection is the only way of curbing disease in a hatchery, according to Dr. Weaver.

STUNT IN CAR PROVES FATAL

Montreal, Sept. 23.—Death caught up with Roland Dorion yesterday as the twenty-six-year-old Quebec City stunt driver attempted to perform what he had advertised as a "death leap" in his automobile.

Spectators and officials at the King's Park race track took Dorion's broken body from the twisted automobile after a platform from which he intended hurling his car twenty feet to the ground, had given way. The automobile, painted with a skull and crossbones, crashed end-over-end to the ground in the wreckage of the tin and wood platform.

Andorra Asks For Protection

Paris, Sept. 23.—The little republic of Andorra, perched in the mountains between France and Spain, considered appealing to France today for protection against threatened invasion by Spanish Anarchists.

Dispatches from Perpignan said the Andorran General Council had indicated it might send a petition to Paris if the situation became more tense before winter snows separate Andorra from its French protectors for six months.

Lose Radium Worth $4,000

Calgary, Sept. 23.—A search for radium was underway in Calgary today.

A tiny phial containing radium, valued at $4,000, disappeared from the clinic here yesterday afternoon. It may have been washed down a drain, clinic attendants said.

Sewers were blocked off and outlets screened as civic workers searched for the precious mineral.

Several years ago a radium phial was lost at a local hospital. It was found in a garbage can.

Reforestation Scheme Urged

Toronto, Sept. 23.—A reforestation plan to aid jobless war veterans was added yesterday to the list of suggestions presented to the War Veterans' Assistance Commission in session at the city hall for the second day.

The plan, endorsed by the Originals Club at its convention in London, Ont., involves establishment of reforestation centres people by ex-service men. Each unit would consist of about 500 acres of land on a stream or river close to a large centre. The land would be laid out in the form of a village with possibly 200 three-roomed bungalows costing about $350 each, as well as a number of dormitories for single men.

Each veteran would devote not less than two days to community work each week. Each centre would plant

How to Handle Young Girls is such a heart-breaking problem that it must make many parents sigh for the good old days when daughters were kept under lock and key from the time they shed pinafores until they put on their wedding gowns.

The difficulty of solving this question has given rise to two opposite schools of thought on the subject. One denies young girls all personal liberty and makes them virtual prisoners at home. The other imposes no restrictions upon them and lets them run wild. And which system of bringing up a girl is most disastrous, heaven alone knows.

On the one hand we have the sorry spectacle of girls scarcely in their teens, girls ignorant of the world as the day they were born, whose irresponsible parents give them no guidance or protection and permit them to ruin their lives before they have fairly begun. Everywhere we see girls who are mere children who have been given automobiles in which they tear around at breakneck speed to places of which their fathers and mothers have never even heard.

We see girls, so bashful that they look as if they should be drinking milk in the nursery, guzzling cocktails in bars until they are drunk. We see girls who would still be playing with dolls playing with passion. We see them, through sheer ignorance, wandering into the road, that leads to hell, and it is a sight that strikes terror and pity to our souls and must make the angels weep.

On the other hand, we see parents who, through fear of their own little two lambs running into danger, as do so many others about them, keep them so closely confined in the home corral that the results of being too much guarded are as bad as not being guarded at all.

The fathers and mothers who make their daughters wear little girls' clothes while all the other girls have sophisticated frocks; who won't let their daughters have their hair waved, or use lipstick or rouge when all the other girls are painted up like barn doors; who won't let their daughters go to the school dances with boys when all the other girls have dates, think that they are protecting them. But, nine times out of ten, what they are really doing is to turn their girls into liars and cheats and hurl them into the very temptation from which they are trying to keep them safe, or else they isolate them.

If a girl is naturally high-principled, or if she is mild and meek and timid, she obeys her parents and sits at home of an evening and reads an improving book while the other girls are having good times and playing around with the boys. But if she is high-spirited and full of life and avid for pleasure, as most girls are, she is only too likely to climb out of the window when the door is shut, pick up boys on the street, go places and do things that she never would have dreamed of doing if she had been allowed to have the boys come to her home to see her and to have a reasonable amount of liberty.

The overstrict parents who will not let their young daughters have any association whatever with boys forget a number of important things. One is that girls in their early teens are always boy-crazy, and the remedy for that is not to deny them the society of boys, but to give them an overdose of it. Make boys forbidden fruit and girls will follow their Mother Eve's example and break their necks to get them. Make boys a commonplace and they will just be Johnny Jones and George Smith and of no interest whatever to them.

Another thing parents forget is that young people run in crowds, and that if they keep their daughters from being one of the bunch they simply shelve them. When they grow up they are aliens. They don't belong. They are left out of everything. They are wallflowers at parties. They can't break into that close corporation of the boys and girls who have played together since their grammar school days. Many a girl is an old maid because her mother wouldn't let her go to the junior prom.

Still another thing that parents forget is that the girl who is never allowed to have a date until she is twenty years old doesn't know how to make herself attractive to men. She is awkward. She is either too difficult or too easy. She lacks the technique that a girl must begin acquiring almost in her cradle if she ever becomes one of the popular girls who never lack for dates and whose dances are cut into mince-meat.

The moral of all of which is that moderation is the word for parents in dealing with their girl children. Drive with a light rein, but see that they never get out of hand.

Uncle Wiggly Breaks a Dish

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Smack! Bang! Crash! What in the world was that?" cried Nurse Jane Fussy Wussy running into the dining-room from the kitchen where she was baking a cake. "Who did it?"

"I did it," said Uncle Wiggly, and he did not speak at all boldly and confident like he usually did. Nor was there any twinkle in the end of his pink nose.

"Did it drop off and break?" asked Nurse Jane.

"What?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"The twinkle from your pink nose—did it fall and break?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper again.

"No," said Uncle Wiggly. "My twinkle is still there, but so to speak it doesn't shine. Look what I did. I broke a dish."

He pointed to the pieces on the floor. There was no doubt of it—the dish was broken into a dozen bits.

ONE OF THE BEST DISHES "That was one of your wife's best dishes," said Nurse Jane. "I know it," Uncle Wiggly sadly answered. "What were you doing with it?" the muskrat lady housekeeper wanted to know. "I was just looking at it to see if there were any nuts for Johnnie and Billie Bushytail," answered Mr. Longears. "Sometimes my wife keeps squirrel nuts in the dish, but there must have been some butter on the dish, for it slipped right out of my paws, fell and broke."

"Are you sure?" asked Nurse Jane. "There was no slippery butter on your good luck," Mr. Longears answered earnestly. "Well, the dish is broken and I had better pick up the pieces," said Nurse Jane. "I'll get the dustpan and brush."

"Give the pieces to me," said Uncle Wiggly.

"What for?" asked Nurse Jane. "I'll mend my wife's dish and make it as good as new," said the bunny gentleman.

GLUE IN THE WOODS "How can you?" asked Miss Fussy Wussy. "Where?" "In the woods," said the rabbit uncle. "Grow fir, pine, balsam and spruce trees. Out of these trees there come sticky gums, which when mixed together, will be a strong cement or glue. With these tree gums I'll stick the pieces of the broken dish together again and fix it a bit impolite. You'll make the dish as good as new and your wife will never know a thing about it."

"Oh, yes, she will," said Mr. Longears. "I wouldn't be her if I broke the dish and mended it. But I'll hurry to the woods now with the pieces of broken dish and stick them together before my wife gets back from the movies. If she comes home before I get back, Nurse Jane, just tell her where I have gone and what I am going to do."

"Well," said Miss Fussy Wussy. So Uncle Wiggly hopped to the woods with the bits of broken dish. After a while Mrs. Longears came hopping home. She felt bad on hearing that her husband had broken her lovely dish, but she said she would forgive him when he came home. But Uncle Wiggly didn't come home. It grew darker and darker and later and later and still Mr. Longears didn't return.

"Oh, where can he be?" cried Mrs. Longears. Well, she may find out in the next story. Write your letter to Uncle Wiggly's Funny Adventure.

But please don't forget to leave the table without eating its tea cream, or it might catch cold.

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline, but do not compel!

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1936

Mingled good and evil aspects discerned in the horoscope for today, according to astrology. It is a date menacing to many who are engaged in litigation, and it brings prominence to attorneys.

While the morning hours promise good fortune to those who are entering the arena in plans for starting new projects, it is ill-fated to delay the signing of legal papers.

What to do at an auspicious time for shopping. Women should choose household furnishings and articles for domestic use. Men should select clothing, particularly in articles made of kid and leather.

Plagues in stocks are foreseen and many Americans who speculate in securities, warning against speculation is repeated, but the gamblers will not be deterred in many ways. It is prophesied.

Educationists and university teachers are forecast and teachers should benefit.

Important agreements or understandings between Great Britain and the United States which will be beneficial, especially in commerce.

Warnings are given that planning poisoning may be frequent in various parts of the United States. Poisoning through foods is to arouse intense concern before midwinter. It is foretold.

Women may find this a tiresome and irritating day in which men will profit by their work in business and politics without giving them proper reward or recognition. Things should be patient.

Persons whose year of business activity and achievement will be minor annoyances. There will be minor annoyances. Children born on this day probably will be extremely wise and practical.

A sign of labor are usually acute. Mark A. Hanna, United States senator and political leader, was born on this day. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include John Marshall, statesman and jurist, 1755 and Zachary Taylor, twelfth President of the United States, 1784.

SAANICHTON

The Agricultural Hall, Saanichton, will be the centre of attraction for the young people of the district for the next six weeks, when a number of popular annual dances will be held.

The North and South Saanich Agricultural Society will hold its annual ball next Friday evening, and on October 16 the Saanich Jersey Breeders' Association will be hosts at their annual dance.

The Eastern Star Lodge will hold its annual dance on Friday evening, October 23, while the Saanichton Badminton Club will be hosts on October 30.

The South Saanich Women's Institute commenced its fall meetings in the Temperance Hall, Thursday evening, with the president, Mrs. Willard Mitchell, in the chair. Plans were made to hold another dance in the Temperance Hall early in October.

A wool bee will be held in the Temperance Hall tomorrow. The next monthly meeting will be held in the Temperance Hall on Thursday evening, October 15.
